Reluctant Assembly Okays Budget-Tax Bill

Bill's Passage Ends Week of 'Horse-Trading'

State Employees Quit Worrying About Pay Cuts

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A week of plain and fancy horse-trading among state politicians was climaxed Monday night as the Legislature finally approved a spending and taxing bill for the state government for the next two years. As a result, thousands of state employees quit worrying about losing their jobs or receiving salary cuts.

The result is just about what could be expected as politicians finally acted with impatience when they realized that four months of bluffing and counter-bluffing had availed them nothing.

The new financial program is the most extreme of the jerry-built revenue structures ever put together in Wisconsin, embodying a whole series of imports which could not have been passed separately, and which would be scorned if any one political party held control in the capitol.

New Tax Sources

Assembly passage of the compromise budget and tax measure Monday afternoon means Wisconsin taxpayers must pay $133.8 million in new taxes since Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds has promised he would sign the bill.

The $133.8 million in new taxes will help finance a record two-year, $626.4 million budget.

Aside from the sales tax features of the bill, the revenue will come from (in millions):

Three-tenths of one per cent income tax increase—$44.5; delinquent income tax assignment—$3.2; bank tax—$2.7; quarterly corporation income tax—$20.0; two cents a pack excise tax on cigarettes—$9.9; liquor and wine tax—$3.0.

A selective three per cent sales tax will be levied on the following items with expected receipts listed (in millions):

Household telephone, $3.3; auto parts, accessories, supplies and repair services, $10.4; road machinery, parts and equipment, $3.3; luggage, $0.7; furs, $0.4; photo services, $0.5; miscellaneous business and industrial equipment, $2.8; cosmetics and toilet articles, $1.2; service charges for repairing goods taxed under the sales tax, $3.0; cleaning, laundry, dyeing and pressing services, $4.6; intrastate telephone calls, $1.3; soft drinks, $3.0; household electricity, $7.6; and the elimination of half of dealer sales tax discounts, $1.6.

The addition of $2 filing for state taxpayers (whether they owe taxes or not) will account for $6.8 million and bring the overall total to $133.8 million.

Vote on Controversial Measure Monday Fails To Follow Party Lines

BY FRANK CREPEAU

MADISON (AP)—A budget and tax bill, tacked together to save Wisconsin from financial chaos, is on its way to Gov. John W. Reynolds today after clearing the Legislature on a 50-39 Assembly vote.

Assembly approval came Monday as 28 Democrats and 22 Republicans voted for the bill.

The Democratic governor has promised to sign the measure into law. But he doesn't like it any better than do the lawmakers who sent it to him.

Spurred by a politically-divided state government that was deadlocked for seven months, the budget-tax bill calls for $133.8 million in new taxes to finance a record $626.4 state budget for 1963-65. The measure also contains enough money to meet a $29 million state deficit.

Does Have Virtues
Most lawmakers dislike some provisions of the proposal advanced by a special committee of eight legislators and the governor. The measure does have virtues, however.

It is the only bill that could pass both houses and receive the approval of the Democratic chief executive. And it solves for two years Wisconsin's financial difficulties.

The Senate last week approved the bill by a solid 24-3 vote. The Assembly followed suit to advance it to the governor's desk.

Assembly Democratic and Republican leaders used their influence to keep the bill free of eight proposed amendments. All the suggested changes were defeated in roll call votes or ruled out of order.

Two-Hour Debate
Debate lasted only two hours and the sole rough spot was an amendment offered by Albert Tadych, D-Milwaukee, which would have eliminated the bill's $2 income tax filing fee.

Tadych called the fee an "unfair, arbitrary" levy. "It's more regressive than a sales tax," he said.

Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford, the assistant Democratic floor leader, moved rejection although he said "I personally find it very hard to do."

The amendment was rejected 47-40.

Before the final roll call, Democratic floor leader Robert Huber of West Allis described the bill as the only remaining solution to Wisconsin's financial deadlock.

He said both parties "have to swallow pretty hard" to vote for the measure.

Other Efforts Fail
Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua, the GOP Assembly floor leader, said the bill represents an attempt "to resolve our problems by compromise when every other effort has failed."

"We face this dilemma because of what happened in the last

Unions Accuse Railroads of 'Brink Tactics'

Claim Carriers Use Technique to Press For Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP)—A union leader accused the nation's railroads today of using brink-of-strike tactics to press for compulsory arbitration to settle the rails work rules dispute.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Enginemen and Firemen, testified before the House Commerce Committee.

Five on-train unions have said they will strike if new work rules, which would slice crews on freight and yard runs, are imposed by the industry.

The railroad deadline for posting of the new rules is 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29.

Opposition
Gilbert spoke in opposition to President Kennedy's proposal the controversy be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the next two years.

He said that would be compulsory arbitration, pointing toward the end of "that kind of bargaining which has become a part of our system of free enterprise."

Gilbert said "the only solution

Retaliating GIs Kill Four North Koreans

Strengthened Army Patrols and South Korean Police Climax Search for Red Infiltrators

BY ROBERT EUNSON

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Strengthened U. S. Army patrols backed by South Korean national police, killed four heavily armed North Korean Communist infiltrators today in a hunt for Red raiders who have slain three U. S. soldiers in two days.

Looking "under every bush," in the words of one U. S. commanding officer, the forces hunted down infiltrating saboteurs on missions close by the headquarters of the U. S. 4th Cavalry regiment command post, six miles south of the Korean demilitarized zone.

The fighting was the farthest south of the buffer area since the Korean Armistice was signed July 27, 1953.

Jeep Ambushed
The action was set off Monday by the ambush of a U. S. jeep in which two U. S. soldiers were killed and a third wounded, below the Korean armistice line. With vigilance renewed and patrols strengthened, the hunt began for those attackers.

As troops and police scoured the area, another American soldier and a South Korean police officer engaged in another clash that cost their lives in the grassy bottomland south of the Imjin River, near Dangdong-ri.

Col. George Croel, the U.N. Command spokesman who confirmed the four North Koreans were dead, said they could be part of the same raiding patrol which machine-gunned a 1st Cavalry Division jeep Monday, killing two U. S. soldiers and wounding another on their way to guard duty in the demilitarized zone.

There also was speculation the four North Koreans killed today were agents bound on a mission of violent espionage. They carried automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Gunned Down
The first North Koreans were gunned down about 9 a.m. It was in this clash that a soldier of the U.S. 7th Infantry Division and the Korean police officer died.

At about 4 p.m., the other two North Koreans were surrounded in deep grass west of the road to Panmunjom and about a mile south of Freedom Bridge.

While an American Army helicopter hovered overhead, about 30 national policemen and half a dozen U. S. soldiers closed in. Two

Survivor Only Recalls All the Noise

ASCOT CITY, Korea (AP)—The lean, ebony skinned soldier with the tube in his chest leaned back on his pillow and through a sickly grin said, "I don't remember much except the noise."

It was Pfc. William L. Foster, of Baltimore, Md., lone survivor of a sneak machine gun attack in the First Cavalry Division area, early Monday morning.

"I was sitting in the back the most fertile stump speaker seat," Foster said weakly. His eyes were glazed and he spoke barely above a whisper.

"The first shot knocked me out, I guess. I fell down across the back seat of the Jeep. I remember the Jeep rolling over and being under the Jeep. I heard them firing from up on the road after the Jeep stopped. I remember their hand grenades and I tried to get up, but I was under the Jeep."

Pvt. David A. Seiler of Theresa, Wis., was blown out of the Jeep by the first blast of North Korean machine guns. Pfc. Charles T. Dessart III of Drexel Hill, Pa., was found dead lying behind the Jeep.

One bullet entered Foster's back at the base of his rib cage, then deflected up through his chest and is lodged in his neck squarely in front of his spine.

"I think we'll just leave it there," said Lt. Col. Harold Hamit of Mill Valley, Calif. "It apparently has done all the damage it's going to do."

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party charged today that Chinese Communist leaders are staggeringly ignorant or criminal adventurers.

Denouncing the Chinese thesis that a third world war would bring a complete victory for communism, an article in Pravda by Peter N. Pospelov said:

"It is difficult to say what predominates in such statements of the Chinese leaders: staggering ignorance and lack of understanding of what a modern thermonuclear world war would mean, or a criminally adventurist and flippant attitude toward the destinies of humanity."

Indian Navy Ships Report Location of Missing Arab Plane

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Indian navy ships today were reported to have found the submerged fuselage of the United Arab Airlines Comet which crashed in the Arabian Sea Sunday with the loss of 63 lives.

A mass of wreckage was located at the bottom of the ocean bed, west of Bombay. It probably will be salvaged later this week.

Three more bodies were brought from the sea, bringing the total to eight so far recovered.

The plane was en route from Tokyo to Cairo when it plunged into the sea about 1 a.m. Sunday as it was coming in to land at Bombay.

'Pray for Peace,' He Wrote

Theresa GI Victim of North Korean Ambush

Theresa, Wis. (AP)—Army Private David A. Seiler of Theresa, who was killed in a Communist ambush in Korea Monday, urged in his last letter that his family "pray for peace."

The 24-year-old Seiler and another soldier were killed and a third was wounded in a dawn attack just south of a demilitarized zone about 20 miles from Seoul as they rode in a jeep to a guard post.

Another American and four North Korean army troops were killed in a second outbreak of shooting today.

Seiler, in the Army since last December, wrote his last letter on July 21, expressing deep concern for his mother's health and the condition of his father's crops, dried out in a drought that gripped Wisconsin earlier in the month.

"I hope ma is okay and real fine after her operation," wrote Seiler. "I hope the crops and the pigs do okay. I hope you get some rain. We got plenty here."

Training, Night Duty
He continued, "We were training last week and on night duty this week," and concluded the letter, "Pray for peace and I'll see you next year."

"Those damn Commies. They're a bunch of skunks," said his embittered father, Erich, a farmer near this southeastern Wisconsin community.

But Mrs. Seiler said, "You can't blame those boys (Communists). They only do what they're told — just like our boys. Their countries train them to kill. You can't blame them."

"David was a good boy," said his father. "He and his (three) brothers hoped to earn enough money to buy their own farm. He always preferred farm work to city work."

Former Iron Mountain, Kingsford Families Renew Old Friendships at Second Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. James Steffen, Oshkosh, above, left, registered for the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Club picnic and reunion Sunday at Riverside Park, Kaukauna. The couple left Iron Mountain in 1952. Taking their names are Mrs. Charles Biolo, Neenah, and Mrs. Florian Stinski, Menasha, who both left about 20 years ago. At right, chatting about their former home towns, are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gischia, Neenah, who moved from Kingsford in 1941; their youngsters, Michelle and Gregory, Mrs. John Ellis, Menasha, who left Iron Mountain in 1950, and her son Joseph.

Home town ties are strong and deserve occasional recognition. Former residents of Iron Mountain and Kingsford, Mich., now living in the Fox Cities, get together annually to renew their acquaintance with each other and catch up on news of those still at home.

The second reunion was held Sunday at Riverside Park, Kaukauna. Serving as organizers this year were two former residents of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area, J. D. Galeazzi, Menasha, chairman, and C. J. Biolo, Neenah, secretary.

Games for children and adults were planned, although much of the time was spent visiting. Assisting with reunion plans were Mrs. Helen McCarthy, Mrs. Florian Stinski, Gerald Vallard, Melvin Van Marter, Louis Froze, Alvin Sodermark, George Logan, Stanley Major, John Ellis and Joseph Melleli.

Tommy La Salle Neenah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville La Salle, reached out to make friends with Susie, the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Friestrom, Appleton. The Friestroms moved from Iron Mountain and Norway, Michigan in 1946. Below, spending a few moments playing bingo, are Mrs. Syl Welhouse, Kaukauna, who left Kingsford in 1935; Joseph Melleli, Neenah, who moved from Iron Mountain in 1950, and Gordon LeGault, Dale, who left Kingsford in 1948. Big Name Designers Tag Earthy Prices on Clothes

Long Waists

The general daytime silhouette was long waisted with short flared skirts. Boxed pleats for example appeared to button onto a modest blue hip-length bodice.

Models wearing ball gowns appeared to be wall-papered like miradors with shiny sequins. At another moment they were draped in crepe with a suggestion of their shape.

Wraps were sometimes pure and simple but worn over sexy black lace or brocade gowns with enormous bows in front.

Cheap But Classy

Sometimes the fur linings in elegant brocade evening wraps were fake chinchilla, and occasionally the fabric itself was obnoxious. It is called the "furry" and is not the most expensive kind. Even so, the garments were and bridegroom should not open their gifts at the reception and for your very same reasons. You are quite right that a reception should be purely social and opening gifts detracts from its real purpose. I suggest that you try the grapevine method, casually getting the word around that your daughter and her bridegroom will not be opening gifts. This may result in pre-wedding deliveries to the house. However, some gifts may be brought to the church anyway. I suggest that you be prepared to have one or more people do the opening and displaying. This could be quite a job which may call for speed and above all, accuracy. In spite of your community custom, I hope you will decide to follow through with your principles. Perhaps you will set an excellent example for future weddings.

Fatalities Increasing With Number Playing in Water

Each year, boating and swimming facilities—both private and public—show a fantastic increase in this country. There is a correspondingly greater number of men, women and children making use of them. Not just in coastal areas alone, but in virtually every state families of all ages and incomes are joining clubs, buying boats, erecting home pools, in order to find enjoyment in water activities.

At the same time, unfortunately, there is a steady increase in the number of accidents and tragedies occurring to these families, particularly to young children. It becomes more glaringly important every day that positive attitudes toward water safety are essential for parents to know and teach to their children, if the situation is to find a remedy.

Must Learn to Swim
Of course, really safe enjoyment of water facilities makes it imperative that a child learn to swim. Man's entire physical makeup is arranged and developed for land living. The novice finds wa-

Not Every Finesse Does Good

There's nothing most of us like better than a chance to get something for nothing, and at the bridge table this usually means a finesse. Still, not all finesses are equally useful even though they may look equally enticing.

South won the first trick with the ace of spades and immediately tried the heart finesse. East took the king of hearts and returned a spade to dummy's king.

South got rid of a diamond on the second spade trick, drew another trump, and finessed successfully through the king of diamonds. But then the slam still depended on a finesse in clubs, and South happened to guess the wrong way to finesse.

"Bad luck," you may say. Or perhaps, "Bad guessing." It was neither; it was actually bad management.

Another Way
South needed the diamond finesse to make his slam, but he didn't need the heart finesse and he didn't have to guess the right way to finesse in clubs.

After winning the first trick with the ace of spades, South should immediately lead the jack of diamonds to find out whether or not that finesse will work.

When the diamond holds, South leads the low diamond to dummy's ace, cashes the kind of spades to get rid of the queen of diamonds, ruffs a spade, leads a trump to dummy's ace, and ruffs dummy's last diamond.

Timing Important
This eliminates spades and diamonds from the North and South hands. Declarer then gives up a trick to the king of hearts and waits for the return with his pencil poised to score the slam.

If East returns a club, declarer gets a free finesse; if East returns anything else, dummy ruffs while South discards a club.

When possible, get your opponents to take your finesses for you. It's worth a little careful turning of your play to turn a guess into a sure thing.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 8 7 5 4 H K 2 D 10 9 6 C W 5 2. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid two spades. Game is unlikely unless your partner has good support for spades and about 18 points, in which case he will bid again. (Copyright 1963)

Family Reunion Takes Place

The eighth annual Jentz family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Plamann, 515 E. Grant St. A pot-luck dinner and supper were served. Robert Neller, a ventriloquist, entertained the group in the afternoon.

Officers elected were Miss Joyce Dettman, Black Creek, secretary; Mrs. Leland Hoer, treasurer; and Mrs. Arnold Jentz, hostess.

Next year the reunion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ellis, Green Bay.

Creature Comforts Are important no matter how strong the desire "to rough it" may be. A water container, as shown above, keeps two to ten gallons of water cold, and, with a pouring spout, is easy to use.

For Perfect Vacation, Rough It Pleasantly

Whether you're planning a rugged weekend in the wilderness or in New England and in the West, a semi-civilized family outing, a few tips may help you in drawing up your program.

Veteran campers say a pre-planned trip almost always beats the unplanned kind—since planning often takes care of pesky, time-consuming details which would otherwise keep you out of the swim.

So—when you get the springtime urge to get in the car and go—wait just long enough to check off these items:

While many campers wait until they're on the road to stop for gas and oil, it's a good idea to check basic gear and safety items the night before—just in case you find you're in for a delay. Be sure that your tool chest is fully equipped. . . that you have a flashlight, a spare tire, and for heaven's sake—a can opener!

Food can be simple and easily prepared—but take plenty. Brisk mountain air or sea breezes work their magic on appetites—and even the last broken potato chip will have a taker.

Know Fire Rules

Some state parks provide barbecue equipment—or you may wish to take your own. Check with your state park department to make sure you're not headed for a camp or beach where building a fire is prohibited—lest you be caught with a huge raw chunk of meal, a terrible appetite, and a ban on fire-making. There's a limit even to going primitive.

Remember—you and your family are not Sahara nomads, accustomed to using half a pint a day for drinking and washing. A usual weekend capacity for a car full of people is five gallons. A water container—a 2, 3, 5 or 10 gallon holder—will keep water cool and get-it-able by means of a pouring spout. (The old brown jug tilted over your shoulder is passe.)

Again—your state park information service can furnish maps and plenty of information on what sites are best for the kind of outing you want: sleeping bag, bungalow, or parking space for your fitted-up camping bus or beach buggy.

Unless you grew up in the neighborhood, ask some of the older residents to advise on good fishing, mosquito-free sites, pleasant trails.

Take Along Hobby
Even if your only aim is to lie in the sun and take it easy, you'll find that on the second day or so you'll be looking around for spots of unusual interest. A new hobby now gaining enthusiasts is, cool!

Your Problems

Forget Inadequacies, Think Of Others to be Content

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 15 years old and already a flop. I have no real friends although a lot of people pretend to like me. I get invited places but only because people feel sorry for me.

I have a fair figure and my mother says I can buy all the clothes I want, but my taste is terrible. I hate to shop because the clothes I go crazy over in the store look awful when I get them home.

I can't do anything well because I'm a clumsy cow. I'm a lousy tennis player, I can't swim, and I hate to dance. My voice is so screechy the choir teacher has asked me to just move my lips and not try to sing with the others.

I always say the wrong thing and laugh at the wrong time. Please help me before I start high school in September.

MISS NOTHING

Dear Miss: Those who think too well of themselves are a pain in the neck. Your problem is in the reverse and equally unattractive. It's a drag to hear people forever running themselves into the ground. Among other things it indicates that they think people are paying more attention to them than they actually are.

Get out of the habit of tuning in on yourself 100 times a day. Turn your thoughts outward — toward others. After having done your best — whether it's tennis, swimming or whatever — forget your inadequacies and concentrate on something else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You

Kluge Family Holds Reunion

The 31st reunion of the late Edward Kluge Sr. family took place Sunday at Hortenville Community Park. Mrs. Selma Hoffman, 90, New London, was the oldest member attending the potluck picnic. The youngest was Davey Krimgle, eight months, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Krimgle, Kaukauna.

Mrs. Joseph Keller, Hortenville, was elected secretary. Members attended from Iola, Clintonville, Neenah, Menasha, Larsen, Kaukauna, Wautoma, New London, Wrightstown, Appleton, Sheboygan and Kimberly.

might call this letter "A Warning To Widows: Stay In Your Own Home."

My husband died four months ago and my daughter and son-in-law insisted that I sell my home and come live with them. I was grief-stricken, lonely and confused when I said "yes." It was the biggest mistake I ever made.

My house is gone, my furniture is gone and I'm a guest in someone else's home. My teenage grandchildren are disrespectful and make me feel as if I am in the way. To hear them talk I wonder how I could have lived so long and learned so little.

I was once a friendly, pleasant person but now I feel like a useless, sour old woman. I gave up everything dear to me and I really didn't have to. Please tell other widows to stay where they are — even if it's a single room. I wish I had. — Not Happy

Dear Not Happy: If you feel a single room would be better why don't you find one?

Some mistakes are beyond repair but this one can be remedied and I hope you do it promptly.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My cousin is getting married in August and I've been asked to be an usher. Linda, the girl I'm going with, doesn't know the bride or the groom except casually. She put a lot of heat on me to get her invited to the wedding and the reception so I did.

Last night Linda asked me what I was doing the Friday before the wedding. I told her I was going to the rehearsal dinner. She got mad and said if I went without her we were finished.

Now I don't know if I should phone my cousin and try to get Linda invited to the rehearsal dinner. My mother says Linda has a lot of gall to put me on the spot this way and that I shouldn't jump through hoops for her. I like Linda a lot and don't want to lose her. Help, please. — Boston Blackie

Dear Boston: Most rehearsal dinners are for the wedding party and some out-of-town guests. Linda's demands are clearly out of line. If the friendship is going to stand or fall on this issue — I say let it fall.

To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TNT Beauty Block Busters

The TNT that destroys beauty and charm is Tension - Neglect-Tiredness. Authorities tell us that more fatigue is due to tension than to work. Neglect of course is triggered by fatigue.

When you are overtired, you scarcely have enough energy to keep going, much less keep up your appearance. Soon you come to look and act as dragged as you feel. And, ten to one, the cycle has its basis in tension.

So, if you are a victim of habitual fatigue, how about checking yourself for tension? Here are a few of the simpler checks: Do you tap your foot or drum your

Rooms Use Spanish Flavor

Dashing Spanish-flavored furnishings spread rapidly to rooms designed for individuality rather than in any set style. Tall Spanish candlesticks, forged iron base tables, chests with boldly blocked doors — these especially make striking combinations with the furnishings of many other countries and times. Enjoyment of rich Spanish tradition by no means awaits complete changes of rooms to Spanish style.

Classic Spanish candlesticks, sometimes adapt to lamps. The stand-out sketched is a practical light-provider with its wide-spreading shade, which matches soft color rubbed into the wood of the base. The combination of wood and forged iron for the lamp is more typical of tables, and this one of olive wood adds another favorite Spanish material — leather — which centers the top. The olive wood's medium brown shows softer antique shadings and less definite wood grain than the darker brown walnut chest — a handsome example of adaptation to

The Ailing House Removing Moss, Grass

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have an old brick patio at the rear of our house. Moss and grass between the bricks are spoiling its appearance. How can we kill this growth?

A: Use a commercial weed-killer, available at garden supplies dealers; follow label directions. Or sprinkle the space between bricks with a strong solution of calcium chloride or rock salt in water.

Q: The enameled walls in my kitchen are very soiled. I'm not due for repainting for another year. How can I wash the walls?

A: Wash the walls with warm water and mild suds (either soap or detergent). Change the wash water frequently, and be sure the rinse water is clear. Start at the bottom of the wall and work up. In this way, soiled water will dribble down over an area that's clean and wet; if the water runs down over a dry, unwashed area, streaks are left which are almost impossible to remove later.

Q: Is there any way to slow down the hardening of patching plaster? I have a large area of wall to repair.

A: Commercial patching plasters usually contain a material to retard the hardening or setting. Adding vinegar, instead of water, to some materials will retard the hardening. Follow label instructions carefully. If plaster of Paris is used for patching, adding a small amount of ordinary glue dissolved in the mixing water will retard its hardening. In general, mix only enough patching material as can be used within a half hour.

Removing Paint
Q: This past year we purchased our home and would like to redecorate our living room and kitchen. The brick fireplace in the living room was painted the same color as the walls. How can I remove the paint from the brick? How can I remove paint from woodwork (kitchen door frames, cabinets)? The wood is oak and I would like to get it back to its original finish.

A: Because of the porous nature of brick, complete removal of the paint may be impossible. I suggest you first try removal in an inconspicuous test area to see whether you like the result better than the painted brick. For both brick and woodwork, use a prepared paint remover, available from paint dealers and some hardware stores. Follow label instructions carefully. A portable electric sander can be used to remove paint from wood surfaces.

Grandma's Coffee Still Unbeatable

BY VIVIAN BROWN

What this country needs is a better cup of coffee, the kind grandma used to make.

Coffee growers are the first to agree.

A tireless band of scientists, and dedicated coffee drinkers have been on the prowl for 10 years to discover the secret of her brew. They follow up every clue.

"We know more than we ever did about coffee, coffee making and the ways equipment give best satisfaction. But how did past generations with simple methods get better results?" asks Dr. E. E. Lockhart, scientific director of the Coffee Brewing Institute, a non-profit organization supported by coffee growing countries.

The institute's laboratories are equipped for study with every conceivable type coffee pot.

Train Groups

"We train the armed forces, restaurant groups, coffee salesmen, show films to ladies clubs, home ec groups, schools. But the large variety of equipment used makes it difficult to get the message across," says Lockhart.

One problem is blend switching; though companies have spent millions to keep blends the same, housewives change from one to another. Their attitude is: you can't tell a blend you prefer until you learn how to brew coffee. They have arrived at some pointers that can be considered a norm.

The trick of good coffee making starts with a clean pot, fresh coffee that is steeped for six minutes whether cloth or paper filter, or 6 or 60 cups, using a drip or percolator. The time can vary from four minutes with drip to eight minutes for the percolator, but two level tablespoons of coffee must be used for each six-ounce cup of water.

Fill Pot

But a bride who tries to make two cups of coffee in an eight-pot percolator is inviting her husband's sarcasm.

"A shallow layer of coffee in a big pot will just let the water run through too fast to make a good extraction," advises the institute. "You must make the quantity of coffee required for the pot."

If she lives in Galveston, Saratoga and certain other areas of the South, her problems increase. She may never make a good brew, the water is against her.

"Some waters are too alkaline, some well waters have too much iron, and water conditioners affect the flavor of the coffee," Lockhart says, though the institute trains representatives in how to make coffee in any area, under any conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miles Buntrock were married at 7 p.m. Saturday at Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oshkosh. The Rev. Glenn Unke performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kabke Jr., 1117 Adams Ave., Oshkosh. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Buntrock, Grafton. The couple will teach school in Lompoc, Calif. (Hiebel Photo)

Being a Movie Star Has Its Drawbacks

Working Hours Concentrated on Location;
Make-Up Problems Can Cause Annoyances

BY JINGO

Want to be a movie star? Want to have the job of being friendly with beautiful girls? Want to have people scurrying about, doing things for you? Want to be the center of attention?

It would be nice, wouldn't it? Just about what anyone would give his eye teeth for; but let's take a second look at what a movie star has to do. Take Elvis Presley. He's working on a show with Ann-Margaret — nice work. They're on location in Las Vegas which is a nice location. But wait.

The show, "Viva Las Vegas," is being filmed on an around-the-clock basis. The hours aren't the best, you must agree.

Three separate camera crews will be working on the Jack Cummings production under the direction of George Sidney, with Sidney personally handling two of them on a day-and-night basis. You see, directors have even lousier jobs.

The first unit works days with Sidney for filming dinner show interiors. The unit includes the stars, Presley, Ann-Margaret, Cesare Danova, Nicky Blair and William Demarest.

Because the company must vacate the clubs by 5 p.m., to permit regular customers to visit the casinos, a second unit, also under Sidney, will commence filming night-time exteriors of the Strip hotels throughout the night.

Country-side Shots
Meanwhile a third unit will be filming backgrounds of the Las Vegas countryside to be used in the climactic race sequence.

All of this will take two weeks, and then the company returns to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for eight more weeks.

It seems to Jingo that all that adds up to an awfully full 10 weeks.

If you still want to be a movie star, read on.
Tony Randall plays the pivotal character in "The Seven Faces of How does it add up now? I was Dr. Lao" also at MGM. It's a afraid it would. Well, good luck.

New, Veteran Members in Attic Play

Laurents Drama Opens Saturday at Music-Drama Center

Three Attic Theatre veterans and two acting newcomers have supporting roles in the summer theater's next production, "Invitation to a March," by Arthur Laurents.

The three-act play opens Saturday night in the arena theater of Lawrence Music-Drama Center. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. except for two performances the second Saturday, Aug. 10. The show will be given through Sunday, Aug. 11 with no performances Monday or Friday nights.

Karen Krumm, who performed in Attic's "Wonderful Town," has the role of the bride torn between conformity and individuality.

Miss Krumm also played the title role of Annie Oakley in the Kaukauna High School production of "Annie Get Your Gun." Between Attic rehearsals and her current work as choreographer on the Kaukauna High school production of "Oklahoma," Miss Krumm is a busy young lady. Playing opposite her as the young woman's fiancé is Kenneth Caplan, who was one of the sailors in "Mr. Roberts."

In Many Shows

Charles Schuman, who has played a wide variety of roles for Attic through the years, will be the father of the bridegroom in this play. Schuman was last seen as Mr. Kirby in "You Can't Take It With You."

The two newcomers are Richard Dixon, stage crew member on many Attic productions, and Alan Millstein.

The three feminine leads in the show are Joan Hoffmann, Bunny Mullstein and Kay Kirchberg.

UW Sociologist Predicts Surge For Year 1970

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin is in for a long term population squeeze, according to a University of Wisconsin rural sociologist who forecast a tremendous surge in the state's population by 1970.

"Don't bury your heads in the sand," Prof. Douglas G. Marshall said Thursday at the first meeting of the newly created "Committee of 25," created by the Legislature to find ways of reducing state agency spending.

Wisconsin, Iowa and some other states, Marshall said, make up "America's old people's home." "We are getting a lot more old people and a lot more young people along with a rapid decline of the independent population," he added.

Tapering Off
Marshall predicted a tapering off of the 25 to 64 year old group in relation to the rest of the state's population by 1970. He told the committee this has great implications for welfare programs. The groups under 25 and over 64 are already on the increase, according to Marshall, who said that causes a rise in "Wisconsin dependent population."

The population surge of the 1970s "is going to hit our schools, welfare institutions and government," said Marshall. "All these figures say that today is the time to look at this—tomorrow is too late."

Fred Trowbridge of Green Bay, who presided, said the "duties of the committee as I see them are without limitation." However, the group has no legislative functions.

Sen. Robert Knowles, R-New Richmond, a committee member, said the group represents "our hope in finding a solution to recurring state financial problems." He said the usefulness of the committee would be destroyed if it were to become politically dominated by either party.

Tourist Attractions Play Major Role in Wisconsin's Finances

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The American fisherman who is impelled to come to Wisconsin lakes and streams in order to bring home the finny bacon averages out to be a casual ne'er-do-well at the fine rat of intensive angling. He spends only about four hours per fishing day a group containing the following counties: Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Ke-

Those figures, estimates of the Wisconsin Conservation Department, are based on the success or failure of the composite fisherman in Wisconsin. That composite fellow is a cane-pole worm-soak-er as well as the die-hard puristic fly fisher- man who would rather eat a worm than fish with it. It includes the intensive fellow who will fish at the drop of an anchor any time, anywhere; and it also includes the cursory fellows who make a score of half-hearted casts and then make a hasty retreat to Ye Olde Inn to dampen the inner man.

Nevertheless, John Q. makes a fantastic number of sorties in search of fish — 18.6 million visits per year. Not all of these junkets, obviously, are made by Wisconsin folks: 6.5 million are made by out-of-staters, most of them from Illinois. Those 6.5 million of nonresi- dent junkies to Wisconsin's wa- terlands help to establish ours about 17 per cent of them earned more than $7,500 annually.

For purposes of the study, east central Wisconsin was blocked into a group containing the following counties: Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Ke- waunee, Manitowoc, Outagamie, Sheboygan, and Winnebago.

Biggest Share

In the studied area, some 47 per cent of the resort, motel or hotel operators catering to over- night tourists or vacationers indicated about 12 lodging units each were available, and that such ren- tals provided about 90 per cent of the operators' total business income.

Other portions of income came from associated taverns, grocery stores, restaurants, boat rentals, sporting goods sales or gift shops. In some cases, the associated busi- nesses provided more than 50 per cent of the operator's gross in- come.

Nevertheless, public pressure on Wisconsin's nature - recrea- tion - vacation facilities will grow apace, according to Frank P. Zeidler, director of the Wis- consin Department of Resource Development. Boating require- ments will double in 20 years and will increase nearly five times in the next 40 years, he said.

However, he added, Wisconsin's recreation resources are being destroyed or limited because of water pollution, unsightly real estate developments, lack of ac- cess to waters, inadequate and overcrowded facilities and lack of planning up until the present time.

Paper Claims Iranians Shot by Kuwait Boat

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Teh- ran newspaper Keyhan claimed 21 Iranians were killed and 24 injured when a Kuwait patrol boat fired on a launch trying to smuggle job-seekers into Kuwait.

The paper reported Sunday that the incident occurred near Silli Island just off Kuwait in the Per- sian Gulf. It quoted survivors as saying the patrol vessel fired on the launch, then rammed it, caus- ing it to sink.

A Kuwait Interior Ministry spokesman claimed at least 13 persons drowned July 18 when the Kuwait patrol boat fired in the air, causing the Iranians to panic and overturn their craft.

Assessed Value Of Kaukauna Rises Over $2.3 Million

Property Worth of City Reaches High of More Than $28 Million

KAUKAUNA — The assessed valuation of the city increased $2,347,540 to a new high of $28,031,370, according to figures released by Lothar Kemp, assessor. This is about a 9.14 per cent hike over last year.

The increase in assessed value would bring in about $108,000 more in property taxes based on the $46 per $1,000 assessed valuation. But city officials indicated the increase in assessed value did not indicate a tax hike could necessarily be avoided next year. Last year's assessed valuation was $25,683,830.

Races, Novelty Events Held at Kaukauna Pool

Several Hundred Youngsters Attend Recreation Program

KIMBERLY — Various races and novelty events highlighted the splash party at the Kimberly pool last week with several hundred youngsters participating in the recreation department sponsored event.

Winning the free style swim competition for boys under 10 were Mike Van Nuland, Mike Erbrecht and Douglas DeWeert. Boys winning in the 11-year and older group were Butch Malsavage, Rick Weyenberg and Tim Vander Velden. Winning in girls under 10 competition were Sue Van Lieshout, Barbara Josephs and Paula Vander Weilen. Girls 11 and older winners were Kathy Green, Bonnie Kaminiski and Jean Cattanaeh.

Other Winners
Underwater swim winners in the young boys group were Steve Erchman, Douglas DeWeert and Mike Erbrecht. Older group winners were Malsavage, Mike Kaiser. Young girl winners were Sue Schumacher, Sue Van Lieshout and Debbie Schanke while older group winners were Mary Weyenberg, Brenda Hietpas and Joyce Gaffney.

Boy diving winners were Brochman, Paul Kluge, John DeGroot, Greg Dufrane, Tim Vander Velden and John Kelderman. Girl winners were Sue Van Lieshout, Kathy Kluge, Sharon Nelessen, Joyce Gaffney, Brenda Hietpas and Diane Hofacker.

Pajama race winners were Jeff Erbrecht, John Geenen, Mike Erbrecht, Mary Weyenberg, Lynn Van Grinsven and Sue Schiese while Grace Golla was the winner in the washbub race for boys and girls.

Transient Worker Held On Charge of Aiding Delinquency of Minors

A transient carnival worker, Dewey A. Armbruster Jr., 29, pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of minors Monday when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Armbruster was ordered held without bond in the Outagamie County jail for sentencing Friday.

County police arrested Armbruster when they saw his car being operated with out-of-state plates. Armbruster was found to have a bottle of liquor in the car in which contained minor girls 17 and 13 years old.

The man also is charged with the unlawful display of license plates. He pleaded guilty to that charge and will be sentenced Friday.

Behind-Wheel Instruction Is Questioned by School Board

Course Suggested for Appleton High School by State Official

A proposal to include behind-the-wheel driver training in the Appleton High School driver education course received a cool reception from the Board of Education Monday.

William T. Richards, Madison, supervisor of driver education for the State Department of Public Instruction; W. J. Morrissey, Hortonville; and Henry Van Straten, Hortonville, both representing the Outagamie County Safety Council, met with the school board and asked it to consider offering the total driver education program at the high school. Under the present cooperative program, the high school offers 30 hours of classroom instruction and the Appleton Vocational School provides six hours of behind-the-wheel training and six hours of driving observation required for students. The high school course is required for sophomores, but behind-the-wheel training is optional. The vocational school program is held during the summer months only.

Richards pointed out that last year 705 sophomores took the classroom instruction but only 184 completed the total program. The aim of the Outagamie County Safety Council and the State Department of Public Instruction is that as many as possible get the total driver education program, he said.

State-Wide Program
Richards said 323 high schools in the state offer the total program, 43 give only the classroom instruction, and 60 provide no driver education. There are 20 cooperative programs between high schools and vocational schools.

The recommendations of the President's Traffic Safety Committee and divisions of the National Education Association are that the classroom instruction be required and be offered for credit as a separate course, and that the total program be given, Richards said. He noted that a bill has been introduced in the Wisconsin legislature, modeled on legislation in Michigan and four other states, providing that a person under 18 will not be licensed unless he has completed a driver education course.

Had Been Considered
Mrs. George C. Munro, board president, said the Outagamie County Safety Council had discussed this question with the board several years ago. After investigation, the board concluded that "although all felt this is a very necessary thing, it is not necessarily the function of schools to furnish it. There is so much we have to cover in terms of what the schools are specifically responsible for that perhaps this should be the responsibility of some other agency," she said.

At that time the vocational

Former Submariners Invited to Meeting of State 'Pigboaters'

World War II submariners now living in the Fox Cities have been invited to attend a state convention of former "pigboaters" being held Sunday at Nashotah Park in Two Rivers.

Robert Hooper, Two Rivers, state commander of the U. S. Submarine Vets of World War II, has extended the invitation to all former submariners whether they are members of the group or not.

Eligible for the convention are men who served aboard a submarine between Dec. 1, 1941 and Sept. 1, 1945 as a crew or as relief. Those interested in joining the state group may communicate with Hooper at 1206 27th St., Two Rivers, or at the convention.

Could Cut Rate
Citing that 118 traffic accidents occurred on College Avenue last year, Zutz said the record showed 60 of the collisions were in mid-block.

"The city could cut its accident rate in half on College Avenue by eliminating angle parking," Zutz said. Chief Wolff and Lt. John Gosch of the traffic division agreed with him.

Increased use of "yield" signs rather than arterials was recommended in the report. City officials explained the trend this year has been toward the installation of yield signs at the intersection of College Avenue and

School Board Arranges for Two Advisors

Medical, Insurance Experts to Fill Posts Temporarily

The Appleton Board of Education Monday made temporary appointments of a new medical adviser and a new insurance adviser to fill vacancies caused by recent deaths.

The board appointed Dr. Ralph V. Landis medical adviser for one year, replacing the late Dr. J. B. MacLaren, and asked the administration to look into the question of a permanent medical adviser.

Dr. Landis, who shared offices with Dr. MacLaren, had offered to handle the position on a temporary basis, and Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz recommended his appointment.

Major Responsibility

The major responsibility of the school medical adviser is to evaluate the physical examination forms filled out annually by teachers and other school employees. There was a great amount of urgency in appointing an adviser now, Kurtz said, because of the back log of forms to be evaluated before the start of school.

The board accepted the offer of Arthur J. Coffey of Coffey Insurance Agency, Appleton, to serve temporarily as insurance adviser without pay, due to the death last week of the professional insurance counselor from Green Bay hired by the board.

Coffey has been the agent writing the school system's insurance, working with the Green Bay counselor. He pointed out that the removal date of the present insurance is Aug. 6, and said he made the offer to tide the board over temporarily.

Not Needed Now

Coffey said the present insurance program is in proper order, and he did not believe the services of a paid counselor are needed now. The counselor received $900 a year and had asked an increase next year to $1,000, according to Director of Business Affairs William Knuth.

The board accepted Coffey's offer and will consider the advisability of hiring another professional counselor.

Neighbor Wants Walk Put Along Athletic Field

A request for installation of a sidewalk along the Roosevelt Junior High School athletic field to cut down on congestion on the sidewalk across the street was presented to the Appleton Board of Education Monday.

Clarence Schwahn, 404 E. Curke, who lives across from the athletic field, presented the request to the board. He said he has counted as many as 100 children in the block when school math of the county's committee lets out, walking 10 or 12 abreast on the sidewalk and lawns.

Installation of a sidewalk along the athletic field on the east side of Roosevelt would split up the traffic, he said.

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz investigation showed also that said sidewalks are placed all around newer schools but generally were not on the older schools.

The board agreed to study the matter and asked the administration to report at the next meeting on costs of installing the sidewalks and whether it would take too much area from the athletic field.

'Spirit of Cooperation' Cited in Resolution by County Board Committee

When the CAB hearing on regional airport designation is resumed at Washington, D. C., Thursday, the Outagamie County Airport Committee will indicate its willingness to meet with Winnebago County officials in a joint attempt to solve the major problem.

Meeting Monday, the Outagamie County Airport Committee adopted a resolution which will be presented to Edward T. Stodola, Civil Aeronautics Board examiner, who suggested at recent hearings at Wausau that Winnebago and Outagamie counties should go together on a regional airport facility. It is expected the Outagamie County committee will say that it stands ready to meet with the representatives of Winnebago County "in a spirit of cooperation" to discuss the possibility of a regional airport in line with Stodola's suggestion, which was interpreted by many observers as a recommendation.

Chairman Absent

Four of the five county airport committee members who attended the meeting signed the resolution and instructed Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath to submit it to Stodola as the hearing opens. Supervisor Mark Catlin, committee chairman, is vacationing out of the city and did not attend.

The committee directed Ponath to testify at the Washington hearing as to the committee's stand, and enter the resolution in the record.

The hearing will be held in Room 911 of the CAB headquarters in the Universal Building at Washington. A representative of the engineering firm which drew the master plan for the proposed Outagamie County airport in the Town of Greenville will also attend.

At the conclusion of the two-week hearings at Wausau earlier in the month, Stodola asked Outagamie and Winnebago County representatives to outline their views on a joint airport. He had requested the reports from the counties by Thursday of this week.

Winnebago County has asked Stodola to give it more time to outline its position on a regional airport to permit a survey being made at the Oshkosh airport to be completed.

Stodola has indicated that the feasibility of a joint airport for Outagamie and Winnebago Counties will be studied at the CAB Washington hearing.

'Take the Initiative'

In concluding the hearings at Wausau he stated: "I would prefer that the county boards of Outagamie and Winnebago counties make only after the engineering survey results are in."

'No More Tipping' County Clamps Down On Museum Operation

There will be no more tipping turned over to the county treasurer and a fee of $3 per day by tourists at the Outagamie County-owned Grignon Home museum in Kaukauna, and the become effective immediately.

The letter told Warnecke to pick up a receipt book at the clerk's office and receipts are to be given to each tenant. A copy of the receipt is to be kept and turned in with the monies.

"All other sources of revenue (tips and donations) is to be hereby abolished," the letter concluded.

'Cause for Dismissal'

The committee also ordered through the letter that unauthorized persons were not permitted to do any work on or around the Grignon property "other than employees or supervisors."

Warnecke was told that any violation of the restrictions would be "cause for immediate dismissal."

The parks committee drafted the restrictions after hearing testimony from Supv. Arthur Hoolihan at a committee meeting Monday.

Hoolihan supervised a work crew of Huber law prisoners, who, over the weekend, began working as painters on the century-old home.

While at the home, Hoolihan questioned Warnecke on the operating procedures. He also questioned several Kaukauna recreational leaders who operated a nearby recreational area.

Sees Tipping Jar

Hoolihan said it was brought to his attention that the rentals were being charged for the shelter house and that the money was not being reported to the county treasurer. Hoolihan said he also saw the glass jar with about 75 cents in tips at the front of the home.

Warnecke also told Hoolihan he "farmed out" the work at the home and had a Kaukauna youth hired to mow the grass for $5 per week.

Warnecke earns $160 per month as watchman and was hired in 1960. He works from May until August at the home.

Hoolihan said the home will be repainted completely in one more week. A kitchen "shed" near the rear of the home is to be destroyed, Hoolihan said, because it has become an eyesore.

The Kaukauna American Legion 40 et 8 installed officers at a dinner meeting at the Legion Club. Menasha Aldermen Seek Law to Ban Go-Karts MENASHA — City Atty Rich-ard Steffens Monday night was propelled by internal two-cycle engine use by members of the combustion engines used primarily for the purpose of transportation to draw up an ordinance which would virtually ban go-karts in the city.

Final instructions for drafting "two - cycle engine" when it was explained by Police Chief Lester Clark that only the two cycle is used in go-karts because of speed.

Anti-Noise
Committeemen abandoned the idea of an anti-noise ordinance because of an apparent impossibility to determine how much sound made noise. The decibel system was ruled out because 100 decibels were considered noise by technical journals whereas Menasha residents complained of decibels of far less — 60 or 70 — as noise and a nuisance.

Exceptions such as power mowers, garden machines, model airplanes and even freight trains would have to be included in an anti-noise ordinance.

Committeemen ruled out an ordinance designating the banning of "go-karts" because of the difficulties of defining what a go-kart is. Instead they decided on two cycle internal combustion engines on machines used for transportation purposes.

The ordinance will be presented to members of the common council for consideration at the Aug. 6 meeting.

Parking Limits
The committee also proposed an ordinance limiting parking on the south side of the Bank of Menasha from the east limits to the west limits of the building to five minutes during all hours.

Chief Clark asked the committee for an ordinance requiring of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 persons involved in accidents in at 266.7 with industrials up 1.5, which there is at least $25 in damages to make out a report to the Dow Jones average of 30.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial at noon had gained 3.61 to 694.32. Steels managed fractional gains.

U.S. Smelting was among the more active performers, adding nearly a point and a half. Chicago Yellow Cab was again in demand and advanced more than 2 points.

Polaroid gained nearly 5 points, IBM was up about 2 and Northwest Airlines was ahead 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher.

Fate of Butte des Morts Bridge In Hands of Commissioners

Final Decision To Come From Madison Office

MENASHA — The fate of a proposed bridge to span Little Lake Butte des Morts in Menasha now rests with the State Highway Commission in Madison. District Engineer LeRoy Empey said Monday.

Empey said the district department has completed its surveys and study and turned them over to the central offices for a decision.

The decision may be a "yes," "no" or "maybe."

Menasha Public Works Director Bob Poss said the "maybe" may mean "yes, but not for a long time in the future."

Survey Completed
Empey said his department, which has handled planning for the bridge until recently, will have no more voice in the project unless state commissioners ask for local fact finding. He said it is doubtful if the district engineering office's opinion will be sought. The commission's decision may stem in part from studies made by the technical advisory group of the Fox River Valley Planning Commission, which will meet in Appleton Thursday to discuss throughfare connections in the area.

It may also stem from the condition of the state budget and public opinion, the latter of which has been favorable.

Highway Connection
The bridge is expected to cost more than $1 million if built, but is expected to bring in more than that by providing a connecting link with Menasha and U.S. 41, a main north-south artery.

Menashans have sought a bridge across the lake for 35 years or more. An application and public hearing last fall were the first definite steps toward acquiring the bridge.

The commission's decision may be the final step in acquiring the bridge for the area.

Elmtree School Will be Rented To Hortonville

permitted the board of the defunct Elmtree District to go out of existence. The board had been required to stay in existence until apportionment of the district's assets and liabilities was completed.

The apportionment board voted that at the end of two years the Hortonville and Appleton boards will determine subsequent disposition of the property, with any disposition of assets or liabilities to be on the basis of 52 per cent to Hortonville and 48 per cent to Appleton.

An earlier proposal to sell the property at the end of two years was dropped when board members pointed out the possibilities that the airport might not be built or that property near the airport might become more valuable. The boards decided a decision on whether to sell could be reached better at the end of the two years.

Disagreement on Assets
Also at issue was division of the cash assets of $6,032. At the first meeting of the apportionment board last January, the board agreed to have the Elmtree District pay Appleton $2,740 to cover the levy due Appleton for operating its portion of the district for the six months following attachment in July of 1962.

Vernon Plamann, director of the Elmtree board, explained its belief that the Greenville portion's share of the assets should be increased because of trailer court rental fees paid to the Town of Greenville and used for school purposes.

The share of the Town of Grand Chute, and consequently of Appleton, would be 32.4 per cent rather than 48 per cent, he said, and therefore Appleton had been overpaid $672.

William Knuth, Appleton director of business affairs, explained that the operating levy was due Appleton and would have had to be raised by a special back levy if there had been no cash on hand to cover it.

"We're splitting hairs," said Appleton board member Gregory Schulte. "If we're going to split the debt 52 to 48 per cent, we should split the cash the same way."

The board finally approved a motion by Appleton board member Roy Whitney that Appleton's share of the cash assets be set at the $2,740.23 already received.

Balance Remains

A balance of $25,942 remains on the state trust fund loan of $29,000 taken out to add the second room to the school two years ago.

If the apportionment board had not taken action by Aug. 1, this would have been assessed against the original area of the Elmtree district, instead of against the whole Appleton and Hortonville districts which now include that area. This liability will be split on a 52-48 per cent basis between Hortonville and Appleton.

Board Waives Tuition Fees

Japanese Girl to Live With Appleton Couple During Year

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved waiver of tuition for a Japanese girl who will live with an Appleton family and attend high school here this year.

The board cited the advantages of cultural exchange as the reason for its action.

Board member Dr. Roy Whitney pointed out there is a danger of getting too many requests for waiver of tuition but said since it happens infrequently, the advantages outweigh the disadvantages.

Miss Hiku Kubo, who will be a senior in high school, will live with the John I. Davis family, 1105 Timmers Lane. In a letter to the board, Davis said that Masayoshi Kubo, the girl's father, is a teacher in the Middle School (high school) at Doshisha University.

Davis said Kubo has been eager to have his daughter receive her senior year of high school education in the United States because she will attend college in this country. He asked a friend, the Rev. Donald Farley of the Congregational Church in Menomonie, to locate a home for his daughter for the coming school year.

The Rev. Mr. Farley asked the Davis family if they would be interested in providing room and board for Hiku and they agreed. The request was a private one and is not associated with any organization, Davis said.

Educators Discuss Behind-Wheel Training

State Aid Split

The $25 state aid per student is split between the vocational school and the high school, Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz explained, with the high school getting about one-third of the aid.

At the time this discussion was going on at the school board meeting, city officials in city hall were hearing a report on the National Safety Council's annual traffic inventory for Appleton. The report criticized the public schools for not offering the total driver education program. In school traffic safety education, the city dropped from 57 to 54 per cent of recommended performance, one of the few areas to drop, while in the over-all rating Appleton went up 4 per cent to 67 per cent of recommended performance.

School board members noted that offering behind-the-wheel training at the high school could mean taking students out of study halls or other classes.

Schedule Dictated

"Are we giving priority to driver education and forcing other courses to be scheduled around it?" asked board member Franklin Nehs. "We are doing this already — the high school schedule is dictated almost entirely by state requirements on physical education."

Richards said the behind-the-wheel training could be scheduled throughout the year as a regular class. He added that a "happy compromise" is possible by taking students out of study hall. Some schools also offer it after school, on Saturdays, holidays and in the summer, he said.

"Because It's Handy"
"I think we all see the value of driver education," Mrs. Munro said. "But is not the reason the schools are called on to handle this, rather than some other agency such as the municipal government, just because it is handy? I don't think we are arguing whether this is a good program or is needed. We're arguing whether the schools should do it."

"I wouldn't argue about the

Appleton Youth, 19, Given Year Sentence For Resisting Arrest

Leonard Barth, 19, 1207 W. College Ave., was sentenced Friday to 364 days in the Outagamie County jail. He had been charged with resisting arrest last March 27 at his home.

Barth was ordered examined at Central State Hospital at Waupun April 4, and was returned for sentencing Friday. He was granted Huber Law privileges.

Man Sentenced to 30 Days After Family Fight

Rudy Webster, 36, route 2, West De Pere, was sentenced to 30 days in jail Monday after he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. He appeared in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2.

County police arrested Webster after a family fight Sunday at his home. Police said he choked his wife and threatened his children. Webster was placed on the Huber Law and transferred to the Brown County jail.

schools doing it providing it does not replace something else we consider of more value," Nehs said. "I'm against adding anything until we have the quality of education in what we now offer where we want it — and I don't believe we have the quality of education yet where we want it, or there would not have been such concern for the last 10 years."

Morrissey pointed out that the safety council "is not greatly concerned whether the driver training be in the high school or the vocational school, just so it is available to more than one-fourth of the students. Not all will wait until summer to take it."

Van Straten said all Outagamie County schools except Appleton offer the complete program.

Not For Public School

Board member Dr. Roy Whitney said he believed this was a proper offering of the vocational school, not of the public high school, but suggested the board work with the vocational school on whether more courses could be offered, possibly some during the school year.

The board decided to discuss the question with the vocational school board.

Village Alarm System Causes Some Confusion

KIMBERLY—Installation of the alarm system in the village has resulted in some confusion among residents concerning the air horn used to signal fires.

The air horn will be sounded daily at 5 p.m. to test the system's operation. In event a fire alarm is turned in from a box, both the air horn and alarm system will sound. The air horn will designate the code for the area of the fire and the alarm system will sound its fire signal.

tion of "yield" markers because they have been proving to be most effective.

Appleton also has good street lighting, and a favorable crossing and crosswalk control program, according to the report, which contained 30 pages of statistical matter, commendations and recommendations for improvement.

Criticism was leveled at the Appleton High School for not having a driver education course complete with in-the-car driving instruction. When it came to the 1962 school traffic safety education phase of the report, Appleton received 54 per cent as compared to a 57 per cent rating in 1961.

Zutz explained that the high school had classroom instruction but by not having the complete program was missing out on state aids which amount to $25 per student enrolled in the actual driving program. It was recommended that at least six hours of practice driving instruction should be provided for driver education students.

"Faint Hope"

City officials said there was "faint hope" of getting the public high school to inaugurate the driving program in the future, possibly a few years from now.

On the minus side, Appleton reported three fatal accidents within its limits in 1962. The city reported 250 non-fatal injury accidents, 131 above the average reported for the preceding three years.

"As indicated by the high performance evaluation received, comparatively few weaknesses were apparent in the Appleton accident records program," the report said.

Good Administration

The report recommended, among other things, that more effort be made to apprehend drinking drivers and convict them on specific driver-intoxication charges.

The report indicated the Appleton Police Department had good administration, and that the conviction rate for accident arrests was high.

Judge Gustave Keller of Outagamie County Court, branch 2, was lauded for his work on the bench. "The judge is to be commended for filing the 1962 inventory for your city and voluntarily submitting court's performance for analysis and comment," the report said.

The Safety Council recommended that the mayor head a committee of local officials to coordinate the city's official effort when it comes to safety improvement programs.

In addition, there should be a citizens' safety organization appointed by the mayor, the report said.

"Appleton, like other cities, must continue to improve its safety program to keep pace with the tremendous increase in traffic," Zutz advised.

Outagamie County Ready To Discuss Regional Airport

Outagamie and Winnebago would take the initiative.

"It is an Outagamie and Winnebago County problem and should be solved at the local level with the aid of the state and FAA engineers. If they fail to do so the examiner and the CAB will rely on the expert advice of the FAA in Washington."

At its meeting this week, the Outagamie County Airport Committee indicated its willingness in arriving at a satisfactory solution to the regional airport problem.

"We will inform Mr. Stodola that we will be glad to sit down with Winnebago County officials and try to solve this problem," Ponath said today.

Hope for Solution

"We have hope that a solution to the regional airport problem will be arrived at," Ponath said.

He added it was evident that Stodola understood the problem which exists in this region in connection with airport construction and operation.

Ponath explained that as a matter of courtesy to the CAB examiner and Winnebago County officials, the content of the resolution would not be disclosed until formally presented at the hearing.

"The airport committee wants to indicate that it will cooperate with Mr. Stodola in friendly discussion with Winnebago County representatives to try and solve the regional airport problem," Ponath said.

Ponath indicated it was the feeling of the people in the Fox Cities region that the proposed Outagamie County airport in Greenville township "is necessary because of the tremendous potential of the Fox Valley area and the business it generates for the airlines".

"It is hoped that careful and prudent consideration will prevail in order to finally determine the regional airport matter," Ponath added.

The joint airport concept was born in the Fox River Valley long before the proposition of regional ports to service several municipal complexes was advanced. It became a concrete proposal in the report to Outagamie County of its airport consultants, Leigh Fisher and Associates, three years ago.

Earlier Report

The Fisher firm listed as its number one recommendation an airport constructed jointly by Outagamie and Winnebago counties at a site generally midway between Appleton and Oshkosh.

The proposal received unanimous approval of the Outagamie supervisors but met with a complete roadblock in Winnebago County. On that basis, Outagamie pursued plans for constructing its own airport in the Town of Greenville.

The Statement

Stodola's statement reached the heart of the controversy with amazing clarity. "Simply stated, the question is this: If in fact the Oshkosh airport should be proven to be both presently and potentially inadequate, would it not make more sense from physical, technical, traffic and cost considerations for the two counties, Outagamie and Winnebago, to have a joint or common airport somewhere west of Lake Winnebago and north of Oshkosh to serve the Oshkosh-Appleton complex of cities?"

This is the proposition which Outagamie County stands ready, once again, to discuss with Winnebago County authorities.

Relatives of Rural Withee Man Sought

Funeral services for a rural Withee man believed to have relatives in or near Kaukauna will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Hooper and Kraut Funeral Home, Owen.

The rites are for Louis Krueger, route 1, Withee, who died in an auto accident Monday. He was the last of four brothers who operated a farm one mile south of Withee.

Krueger and his brothers were the sons of Ludwig and Caroline Korb Krueger. They were all bachelors and had no relatives in the Withee area. Any person who can prove his relation to Krueger is likely to inherit his estate.

The funeral home said that when Krueger's brother died four years ago, two women and a man attended his funeral. However, only Louis was present for the funeral of his brother Leslie last year.

The fourth brother Ennis was killed in a gun battle with authorities who tried to get the four men to register for the draft in 1918. They refused for religious reasons. The death of a depot agent during one of the gun battles sent two of the brothers to prison.

Thieves Attempt Safe Cracking

KAUKAUNA — Police are investigating the theft of about $20 and an attempted safe cracking at Van Lieshout Motor Sales, 225 Dodge St., which occurred sometime after closing at 9 p.m. Monday.

Entry was gained by breaking a glass in a rear door which leads to the boiler room of the building. Person or persons responsible were unsuccessful in attempting to open the safe but found about $20 in change in the cash drawer, according to police.

Man Sentenced To Reformatory For One Year

CHILTON — Eugene A. Brux, 27, Appleton, was sentenced Monday to one year in the Wisconsin State Reformatory, Green Bay, by Calumet County Judge D. H. Sobora for probation violation.

Brux was brought to court by a probation officer of the state department of public welfare after Brux failed to meet the terms of his probation.

He was arrested in April, 1962, and charged with failure to support his wife and two minor children. He admitted the offense May 11 before Judge D. H. Sobora and was placed on probation for a year. A year later, May 7, 1963, the probation was extended after Brux again failed to provide support for his family. It was revoked this week after another violation.

Oshkosh Man Fined for Being Drunk in Public

Ernest Willer, 69, Oshkosh, was fined $30 or 14 days in jail for being drunk in a public place. He appeared Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 and pleaded guilty.

Willer was arrested Sunday in the village of Shiocton. He had not paid the fine at noon today.

Foxes Win, 3-2, Over Dubuque

Only One Hit

Foxes starter Tom Fischer weathered several storms through the fifth and sixth before being lifted for a pinch hitter, Joe Rowden came in and turned in an effective relief performance by holding Dubuque to only one hit through the last three frames. Rowden picked up the win, his third against six losses.

A pair of Dubuque errors played a big part in allowing the Foxes to tie the score in the eighth. With two out, Bob Lewandowski walked and stole second. Catcher George Farson hit a grounder that the shortstop bobbled for an error. Doug Crawford, the Packer shortstop, seeing he couldn't get Farson at first, tried to pick Lewandowski off at third after Bob rounded the bag but the ball went against the fence and Lewandowski romped home with the tying run.

With one out in the ninth, Ron Stone singled to left and Dave May beat out a perfect bunt down the third base line. Rex Peters hit a hard hopper to the third baseman that was bobbled for an error and the bases were loaded. Embrey grounded to the first baseman and Stone was forced at home for the second out. Then came Grim's slasher to left and the huge crowd rose to its feet with a thunderous ovation.

Graham to Have 'Stars Well Schooled About Packer Pass Patterns

Mentor Secretive About His Starter At Quarterback

By Joe Mooshil

CHICAGO (AP) — Head Coach Otto Graham doesn't have a short memory and for that reason it's a safe bet his College All-Stars will be well-schooled in pass defense when they meet the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night.

Graham has been coaching the All-Stars since their last victory over the professionals—a 35-19 upset over Detroit in 1958 — and tipped his hand after last year's 42-20 loss to Green Bay.

"They beat us with their pass patterns," said Graham. "There didn't seem to be anything we could do about it."

Bart Starr, Green Bay's methodical quarterback, threw five touchdown passes as the Packers turned a 21-20 lead after three quarters into a rout.

Graham has been carrying a clipboard of Green Bay pass patterns in every All-Stars workout. But whether the All-Stars will try to rush staff or concentrate on covering the receivers is something that will not unfold until Friday night.

Starting Quarterback

Graham is as secretive as usual about his starting quarterback, the key role in the All-Stars' attack. The choice will be a tough one.

The All-Stars have Heisman award winner Terry Baker of Oregon State, Glynn Griffing of Mississippi, Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin and Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian.

The man who gets the nod will be throwing to some of the great pass receivers in college history. There's Paul Flatley, the flanker star from Northwestern, Pat Richter, the Wisconsin record breaker; Hugh Campbell of Washington State, John Mackey of Syracuse, Willie Richardson of Jackson State and Bob Jencks of Miami of Ohio.

Add to this group some breakaway backs who also can snare passes, the All-Stars have an excellent chance of upsetting Green Bay if their lines can match the Packers' experience - hardened forward walls.

At Full-Strength

For a change, the All-Stars will be at full strength in the backfield now that most of the heavy drills are out of the way and there is little chance of any injuries.

Two years ago, Graham was unable to use Joe Bellino of Navy. Last year, the All-Stars were without the services of the late Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Ron Bull of Baylor, who went on to become a top rookie with the Chicago Bears.

Larry Ferguson of Iowa, Bob Paremore of Florida A&M, Charlie Mitchell of Washington and Roger Kochman of Penn State have been impressive in workouts, along with Ben Wilson of Southern California and Bill (Thunder) Thornton of Nebraska.

The All-Stars will hold one drill today. Wednesday night they will work out under the lights in Soldier Field and end their sessions Thursday afternoon.

Bob Minkebig, Wayne Hull Fire 35s at FVGC

KAUKAUNA — Wayne Hull and Bob Minkebig fired par 35s to pace action in the Fox Valley Golf Club Twilight League.

Runnerup honors at 36, went to Jim Weigman, Omer Wolgram, Gene Ploetz and huss Torgeson.

Ves Hanby posted a 37. Royal Clothing moved into first place in the team event with 393 points despite losing, 42-38, to Combined Locks. E-Z Glide Doors is 11 points off the pace, while Haen Insurance and Morgan Printing are tied for third (355).

Special golf prizes went to Herman Maes, Francis Demerath, Orville Bongers, Grover Patterson and Hull.

TOKYO — Kazuo Takayama 134½, Japan, outpouted Guizani Rezpur, 134½, Algeria.

Horlen Loses No-Hit Bid in Ninth Inning

Detroit the day after he was recalled from Indianapolis of the International League last Wednesday. The White Sox scored in the sixth inning, during which they got three singles and a walk off Steve Ridzik but managed only one run. Ron Kline was the winner after pitching the ninth for Washington.

Nigh Untouchable

Lolich was nigh untouchable against the Orioles before Brown's pinch blow in the ninth ruined him. The 22-year-old left-hander retired the first 11 batters in order, gave up a single with two out in the fourth to Bob Johnson, then set down 14 more in a row before Smith batted for Roberts and singled.

Luis Aparicio fled to left for the second out but Brown whacked Lolich's first pitch over the fence in left for only his second homer of the year.

Roberts allowed one Tiger hit in the first and one in the ninth, walked two and hit a batter—and the only run off the 36-year-old right-hander was unearned. That came in the first when leadoff man Bill Bruton walked. Dick McAuliffe doubled and Bruton came in on Russ Snyder's off-target throw from right field for an error.

Fred Whitfield broke up Chance's no-hit bid with two out in the seventh when he looped a single to center, and Woodie Held singled in the eighth for Cleveland's other hit. The big Angel right-hander walked three and struck out 12.

Meanwhile, the Angels pounded five Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits, getting six in their eight-run burst against loser Dick Donovan and Jerry Walker in the third. Joe Koppe started it with a single, then after one out came a walk, four straight singles, another walk, and Torres' grand slam.

First in 2 Seasons

Wickersham's shutout was his first in two seasons as a major leaguer and the first for the A's over the Yankees in almost three years. The rangy Pennsylvanian had to struggle in the early going but gave up only two singles over the last four innings.

Al Downing, the Yanks' prize young southpaw, was tagged for a single by Gino Cimoli and Causey's homer before a man was out in the first, then fell hopelessly.

Boston took a 7-0 lead against Minnesota in the first three innings, then the Twins started their home run tattoo against Bill Monbouquette. Bob Allison connected in the fourth, Earl Batley connected in the seventh, and Vic Power and Don Mincher homered in the eighth, making it 7-5.

Red Sox strong boy Dick Radatz came on then for his 44th appearance this season, shut off the Twins for the final 1-2-3 innings, and preserved Monbouquette's 14th victory.

Dick Stuart led Boston's attack with a three-run homer, double and single, Ed Bressoud also homered, and Roman Mejias cracked a two-run double. Jim Perry was the loser.

Hadley Wins Amateur Title

Below Third in Professional Division At Stevens Point

STEVENS POINT (AP) — A great demonstration of sub-par golf has carried Milwaukee pro Tommy Veech to his second straight crown in the Stevens Point Invitational Golf Tournament.

Veech, who finished the 36-hole test with a 10-under-par total of 130, fired a 3-under-par 34-33-67 in Monday's final 18 holes to go with a 31-32-63 Sunday. His winner's share of the $2,500 prize list was $500 and a trophy.

Manitowoc's Lou Warobick was second with a 3-under-par score of 137. He had a 71 Monday after a 66 on Sunday. He won $200. Third place and $100 went to Bob Below of Neenah, who posted a 141. Tied for fourth were Tommy Puls of Barron and Steve Bull of Racine. Their 143s earned the $80 each.

Tom Hadley of Neenah won the amateur title by defeating defending champion Phil Johnson of Madison on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff. Hadley replied in a birdie putt for the victory. He and Johnson had tied with 139s.

John Toepel Jr. of Stevens Point and Dave Penn of Madison tied for third with 143s.

Seymour '9' Scores Third Straight Win

Ends 4-Year Drought in Dairyland Loop

DAIRYLAND BASEBALL LEAGUE
Seymour 3 0 1 0 Navarino 1 1 1 0
Bouduel 2 1 1 0 Nichols 1 1 1 0
Hofa Park 1 1 1 0 Garrow 0 2 0 2
Landstad 1 1 1 0

Sunday's Results:
Freedom 11 Black Creek 10 (11 in.)
Nichols 7 Navarino 2
Seymour 5 Garrow 3
Bouduel 4 Hofa Park 2.

Next Week's Games:
Freedom at Bouduel.
Hofa Park at Seymour.
Garrow at Landstad.
Navarino at Black Creek.

Seymour scored its third straight victory in second-half play of the Dairyland Baseball League Sunday by defeating Garrow, 5-3.

It was the first Seymour victory over Garrow in four years. The string of Garrow triumphs had run to nine, including a 2-1 exhibition victory in June.

Actually, the standings are a bit deceiving as Seymour's victory over Freedom at Seymour July 18 is not official. Seymour was leading, 10-0, in the seventh inning when the lights failed. Dairyland League President H. J. "Kelly" Weller has ruled that if the contest has a hearing on the championship, it will be resumed from the point of light failure at a later date.

Freedom edged Black Creek, 11-10; Nichols topped Navarino, 7-2; and Bouduel defeated Hofa Park, 4-2, Sunday.

Seering Wins

Landstad whipped Bouduel, 10-4, in a makeup tilt Saturday night. Leon Drage suffered the loss for Bouduel, while Ken Seering picked up the victory while fanning five and walking one.

Spahn Pitches Braves to 8-2 Win Over Reds

July 7 for Spahn, who retired 11 Reds in a row before Pinson connected for his homer with two out in the fourth.

Spahn, who made only one other start since injuring a tendon in his left arm in beating Houston July 7, was able to throw hard again Monday night, using his fast ball when he wanted to. He threw only breaking pitches in losing to the Cardinals last Thursday.

For all purposes, the Braves put the game away in the first inning as Ed Mathews walked with one out and scored on Hank Aaron's 30th homer. Lee Maye followed with his eighth home run.

The Braves got another run in the fourth as Frank Bolling was safe on an infield roller and went to second on a wild throw by Leo Cardenas and scored on Del Crandall's single off the wall in left.

Aaron Doubles
A single by Mathews led to another Milwaukee run in the fifth. He got to second on a throwing error by Pete Rose and scored on Aaron's double.

The fifth inning burst sent Red starter John Tsitouris to the showers. Don Zanni had no trouble in the sixth and Al Worthington got through the seventh but the Braves battered him for three runs in the eighth.

Jack Jones led off with a double and reached third on an infield out. Crandall's single scored Jones and Crandall went to second on a single by Denny Menke. A single by Mathews scored Crandall and Menke crossed the plate on Aaron's single.

The victory gave the Braves three of the five games with the Reds.

The Chicago Cubs move into County Stadium tonight, sending Bob Buhl, 9-7, to the mound against Hank Fischer, 3-2.

(the first nine holes and six of the back nine. She had three bogies and two double-bogies. Mary Beth Nienhaus had six pars on the front nine. She started off like a flash on the back nine, picking up birdies on numbers 10 and 12. However, on the 232-yard number 13 she blossomed to a three-over-par six.

Top 16 Enter

The second round of the 54-hole medal play competition is being played today. The top 16 golfers will then enter the championship flight Wednesday, according to tournament chairman Mrs. Raymond Strz. There will be 16 golfers in each of the seven other flights also.

After the first day's activity, the majority of the women agreed that the 5,522-yard layout was "challenging without being tiring." The No. 3, 454-yard hole, with its dogleg right and water hazard proved troublesome to many of the contestants. Some scorecards read as high as an 11 on the par 5 hole. The linkers also felt that the greens were "tricky."

Other Oshkosh and Appleton scores were: Mrs. Fred Steben, 96; Mrs. Maynard Sturm, 93; Mrs. Frank Sagmeister, 103; Mrs. Earl Tessier, 96; Mrs. Raymond Sury, 91; Mrs. Wilbur Strotman, 97; Mrs. Robert Butkiewicz, 96; Mrs. James Ellison, 95; Mrs. David Leibenson, 95; Mrs. Carl Steinhilber, 96; Mrs. Jack Heins, 99; Mrs. A. P. Chalberg, 92; Barbara Steiner, Appleton, 85; Phyllis Roney, 106; Mrs. Fred Ewest, 100; Mrs. Lee Bradke, 103; Mrs. Edward Saur, 106; Mrs. C. J. Gutowski, 103; Mrs. A. W. Eversfield, 107; Mrs. Henry Felker, 105; Mrs. Milton Zentner, 106; Mrs. Earl Casey, 101; Mrs. Janice Kimball, 112 and Mrs. Irving Wussow, 112.

Baerenwald Defeats Medalist Martinek In City Tournament

Former Champions Syl Bayer, Bowers Also Advance

Former champion Al Baerenwald defeated medalist Rick Martinek 3 and 2, in the feature first-round match of the Appleton City golf tournament on the Reid course.

Other former champions who survived the first round of action are Syl Bayer and Howard Bowers. One past titlist, Tom Lemons, was eliminated by Dennis Babb, 5 and 4.

Defending champion Don Strutz has not as yet played his first round match against Elmer Vandenberg. Three other first-rounders remain to be played.

Syl Bayer scored a 4 and 3 win over Bob Duszak and will battle Baerenwald in the second round. Bowers defeated Byron L. Jensen, 4 and 3 and next meets Mark Meythaler, who ousted Bob Green, 2 and 1.

Babb, in the second round, en-

Powers Scores Fourth Win to Tie for First

KAUKAUNA — Powers' Pub won its fourth game in as many starts in second round City Softball League play to tie Shamrock for the League lead. Powers' stormed to a 9-2 win over Tony's Bar, a big sixth inning making the difference. The winners tallied seven runs highlighted by a base cleaning triple by Bruce Kobs and a homer by Ron Gloudehans. The winning pitcher was Jerry Hawley, and the loser was Dennis Lappen. Mullen Barbers scored a 10-3 win over Badger Northland. Jerry Ederer, Ray Van Zealand and Earl Casey, 101; Mrs. Janice Kimball, 112 and Mrs. Irving Wussow, 112.

the crowd and comes to rest in deep rough behind it. Nicklaus sticks his shot five feet from the cup.

Palmer pulls his into a trap on the left side of the green. Palmer explodes from the trap and rolls 35 feet past the hole. Boros' chip is dubbed, leaving him on the green but 40 feet short.

Boros puts three feet past the hole. Palmer puts four feet past. Nicklaus, eyeing his five-footer for a duce, rims the cup and rolls nearly four feet beyond.

Palmer drops his for a bogey 4. Nicklaus again misses, also taking a 4. Boros misses, getting a double-bogey 5.

Two putts by Palmer and three each by the other two brought the match to the last hole with Arnie holding a one stroke edge over Boros.

Nicklaus, without the duce that could have pulled him into a tie, was out of it now.

Boros and Palmer were on the 396-yard 18th in three. Palmer missed a 12-footer and settled for his par 5. Boros had a sharp-breaking 7-footer and missed, also taking 5.

Palmer said afterward: "From where I went out of that trap on the 17th, that bogey looked awfully good. I was trying to make my 4 and that's all. I thought Jack would make his 2, or a 3 at worst, and would be right back in it."

"I shouldn't have missed it," said Nicklaus.

"Arnie, you can thank all of us, can't you?" quipped Boros.

"It looked like nobody wanted to win it," said Arnie.

Feature Race At Shiocton Won by Paul

SHIOCTON — Bear Creek's Roger Paul won the feature race here Sunday night beating runnerup third place driver Gerry Smith (No. 96).

Medina's Bob Schroeder rolled over in the third lap of the feature. Bessette recorded the fastest time in the pre-race trials, with a 17.83. Duane Riehl won the demolition derby.

Green Bay's Bill Schwader captured the semi-feature event with Don Denton, of Waverly Beach, and second and Dick Glaser, of Appleton, third.

Winners and runnerups in the four heat races follow. First heat, Kading vs. Lins-Ken Ladwig; Tetowol; second heat, Emery Breitbo-Cover vs. Geenen-Grist; a and rick (Hortonville) and Denton; Jungers-Jon Keckonen vs. Dennis third heat, Paul and Schroeder; Mueller and Peter Ryerson.

GM Achieves Earning, Sales Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. made $5.1 million a day in April, May and June, Saturdays and Sundays included.

GM, and probably no other business concern, ever made it faster.

The No. 1 automaker and world's largest industrial corporation set eight sales and earnings records in the second quarter.

Company officials said the excellent second quarter results reflected continued high demand for GM's automotive and nonautomotive products and high national employment and personal income.

Profits soared to $464 million, GM said Monday in reporting to stockholders on this spring's unprecedented auto boom.

Earnings were higher at $497 million in the last three months of 1962. But that included $73.5 million from sale of GM's interest in Ethyl Corp. last November.

Second quarter net income came to $1.62 a share of common stock. The comparable sum in the fourth quarter of 1962 was $1.55, after a deduction of 19 cents a share owing to the Ethyl transaction.

Worldwide factory sales in the second quarter totaled 1,646,747, including 1,143,952 passenger cars and 149,775 trucks and coaches produced in the U.S., a U.S. vehicle total of 1,293,727.

Sales Engineer Added to Staff of Trane Company

Glydewell B. Burdick Jr., has joined the Trane Company's Appleton sales office as a sales engineer. Harry V. Koller, manager of the Appleton office, has announced.

Burdick is a 1963 graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. Prior to receiving his field assignment, Burdick completed the Trane specialized graduate engineering training program. The program consists of instruction on Trane products and their specialized heat transfer theory and practice.

Trane is a manufacturer of air conditioning, heating, ventilating and heat transfer equipment for commercial, residential and industrial applications.

Wheat finished 1 1/2 cents a bushel higher to 1 1/2 lower, September $1.78 1/2; corn 1/4 lower, September $1.23 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 64 cents; rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, September $1.25 1/2; soybeans 1 1/2 cents higher, September $2.63 1/2-3/4.

Reluctant Assembly Okays Budget-Tax Bill

Bill's Passage Ends Week of 'Horse-Trading'

State Employees Quit Worrying About Pay Cuts

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — A week of plain and fancy horse-trading among state politicians was climaxed Monday night as the Legislature finally approved a spending and taxing bill for the state government for the next two years. As a result, thousands of state employees quit worrying about losing their jobs or receiving salary cuts.

The result is just about what could be expected as politicians finally acted with impatience when they realized that four months of bluffing and counter-bluffing had availed them nothing.

The new financial program is the most extreme of the jerry-built revenue structures ever put together in Wisconsin, embodying a whole series of imports which could not have been passed separately, and which would be scorned if any one political party held control in the capital.

Apologies, Protests

Never before has a major law passed with even its backers kicking and apologizing and protesting as they pressed voting buttons.

Politicians in campaigns like to point with pride at their own records, and view with alarm the performance of their rivals.

The record on the tax bill, besides its contents, will challenge the most fertile stump speaker among the candidates for state office next year.

For the political identities on the measure are so blurred as to defy analysis.

Pravda Attacks Chinese Views

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party charged today that Chinese Communist leaders are staggeringly ignorant or criminal adventurers.

Denouncing the Chinese thesis that a third world war would bring a complete victory for communism, an article in Pravda by Peter N. Pospelov said:

"It is difficult to say what predominates in such statements of the Chinese leaders: staggering ignorance and lack of understanding of what a modern thermonuclear world war would mean, or a criminally adventurist and flippancy attitude toward the destinies of humanity."

Indian Navy Ships Report Location of Missing Arab Plane

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Indian navy ships today were reported to have found the submerged fuselage of the United Arab Airlines Comet which crashed in the Arabian Sea Sunday with the loss of 63 lives.

A mass of wreckage was located at the bottom of the ocean bed, west of Bombay. It probably will be salvaged later this week.

Three more bodies were brought from the sea, bringing the total to eight so far recovered.

The plane was en route from Tokyo to Cairo when it plunged into the sea about 1 a.m. Sunday as it was coming in to land at Bombay.

Sicily Arrests 60 More Mafia Members

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A roundup of suspected Mafia members throughout Sicily reached 400 today with the arrests of another 60 men.

The drive against the Sicilian underworld society was touched off by the slaughter of seven policemen, killed June 30 in a booby-trapped car.

East Berlin Border Guards Foil Escape

BERLIN (AP) — Communist border guards Monday night arrested four persons trying to escape from East Berlin, West Berlin police said today.

The four had lowered a cable from the fourth floor of a house near the wall when a Red patrol discovered the attempt.

New Tax Sources

Assembly passage of the compromise budget and tax measure Monday afternoon means Wisconsin taxpayers must pay $133.8 million in new taxes since Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds has promised he would sign the bill.

The $133.8 million in new taxes will help finance a record two-year, $626.4 million budget.

Aside from the sales tax features of the bill, the revenue will come from (in millions):

Three-tenths of one per cent income tax increase—$44.5; delinquent income tax assignment—$3.2; bank tax—$2.7; quarterly corporation income tax—$20.0; two cents a pack excise tax on cigarettes—$9.9; liquor and wine tax—$3.0.

A selective three per cent sales tax will be levied on the following items with expected receipts listed (in millions):

Household telephone, $3.3; auto parts, accessories, supplies and repair services, $10.4; road machinery, parts and equipment, $3.3; luggage, $0.7; furs, $0.4; photo services, $0.5; miscellaneous business and industrial equipment, $2.8; cosmetics and toilet articles, $1.2; service charges for repairing goods taxed under the sales tax, $3.0; cleaning, laundry, dyeing and pressing services, $4.6; intrastate telephone calls, $1.3; soft drinks, $3.0; household electricity, $7.6, and the elimination of half of dealer sales tax discounts, $1.6.

The addition of $2 filing for state taxpayers (whether they owe taxes or not) will account for $6.8 million and bring the overall total to $133.8 million.

Vote on Controversial Measure Monday Fails To Follow Party Lines

BY FRANK CREPEAU

MADISON (AP)—A budget and tax bill, tacked together to save Wisconsin from financial chaos, is on its way to Gov. John W. Reynolds today after clearing the Legislature on a 50-39 Assembly vote.

Assembly approval came Monday as 28 Democrats and 22 Republicans voted for the bill.

The Democratic governor has promised to sign the measure into law. But he doesn't like it any better than do the lawmakers who sent it to him.

Spawened by a politically-divided state government that was deadlocked for seven months, the budget-tax bill calls for $133.8 million in new taxes to finance a record $626.4 state budget for 1963-65. The measure also contains enough money to meet a $29 million state deficit.

Does Have Virtues

Most lawmakers dislike some provisions of the proposal advanced by a special committee of eight legislators and the governor. The measure does have virtues, however.

It is the only bill that could pass both houses and receive the approval of the Democratic chief executive. And it solves for two years Wisconsin's financial difficulties.

The Senate last week approved the bill by a solid 24-8 vote. The Assembly followed suit to advance it to the governor's desk.

Assembly Democratic and Republican leaders used their influence to keep the bill free of eight proposed amendments. All the suggested changes were defeated in roll call votes or ruled out of order.

Two-Hour Debate

Debate lasted only two hours and the sole rough spot was an amendment offered by Albert Tadych, D-Milwaukee, which would have eliminated the bill's $2 income tax filing fee.

Tadych called the fee an "unfair, arbitrary" levy. "It's more regressive than a sales tax," he said.

Frank Nikolay of Abbotstown, the assistant Democratic floor leader, moved rejection although he said "I personally find it very hard to do."

The amendment was rejected 47-40.

Before the final roll call, Democratic floor leader Robert Huber of West Allis described the bill as the only remaining solution to Wisconsin's financial deadlock.

He said both parties "have to

Other Efforts Fail

Paul Alfonsi of Minocqua, the GOP Assembly floor leader, said the bill represents an attempt "to resolve our problems by compromise when every other effort has failed."

Unions Accuse Railroads of 'Brink Tactics'

Claim Carriers Use Technique to Press For Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union leader accused the nation's railroads today of using brink-of-strike tactics to press for compulsory arbitration to settle the rails work rules dispute.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen, testified before the House Commerce Committee.

Five on-train unions have said they will strike if new work rules, which would slice crews on freight and yard runs, are imposed by the industry.

The railroad deadline for posting of the new rules is 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29.

Opposition

Gilbert spoke in opposition to President Kennedy's proposal the controversy be turned over to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the next two years.

He said that would be compulsory arbitration, pointing toward the end of "that kind of bargaining which has become a part of our system of free enterprise."

Gilbert said "the only solution Turn to Page 6, Col. 7

BY ROBERT EUNSON

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Strengthened U. S. Army patrols backed by South Korean national police, killed four heavily armed North Korean Communist infiltrators today in a hunt for Red raiders who have slain three U. S. soldiers in two days.

Looking "under every bush" in the words of one U. S. commanding officer, the forces hunted down infiltrating saboteurs on missions close by the headquarters of the U. S. 4th Cavalry regiment command post, six miles south of the Korean demilitarized zone.

The fighting was the farthest south of the buffer area since the Korean Armistice was signed July 27, 1953.

Jeep Ambushed

The action was set off Monday by the ambush of a U. S. jeep in which two U. S. soldiers were killed and a third wounded, below the Korean armistice line. With vigilance renewed and patrols strengthened, the hunt began for those attackers.

As troops and police scoured the area, another American soldier and a South Korean police officer engaged in another clash that cost their lives in the grassy bottomland south of the Imjin River, near Dangdong-ri.

Col. George Creel, the U. N. Command spokesman who confirmed the four North Koreans were dead, said they could be part of the same raiding patrol which machine-gunned a 1st Cavalry Division jeep Monday, killing two U. S. soldiers and wounding another on their way to guard duty in the demilitarized zone.

There also was speculation the four North Koreans killed today were agents bound on a mission of violent espionage. They carried automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Gunned Down

The first North Koreans were gunned down about 9 a.m. It was in this clash that a soldier of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division and the Korean police officer died.

At about 4 p.m., the other two North Koreans were surrounded in deep grass west of the road to Pannunjom and about a mile south of Freedom Bridge.

While an American Army helicopter hovered overhead, about 50 national policemen and half a dozen U. S. soldiers closed in. Two

Survivor Only Recalls All the Noise

ASCOT CITY, Korea (AP) — The lean, ebony skinned soldier with the tube in his chest leaned back on his pillow and through a sickly grin said, "I don't remember much except the noise."

It was Pfc. William L. Foster of Baltimore, Md., lone survivor of a sneak machine gun attack in the First Cavalry Division area early Monday morning.

"I was sitting in the back seat," Foster said weakly. His eyes were glazed and he spoke barely above a whisper.

"The first shot knocked me out, I guess. I fell down across the back seat of the Jeep. I remember the Jeep rolling over and being under the Jeep. I heard them firing from up on the road after the Jeep stopped. I remember their hand grenades and I tried to get up, but I was under the Jeep."

Pvt. David A. Seiler of Theresa, Wis., was blown out of the Jeep by the first blast of North Korean machine guns. Pfc. Charles T. Dessart III of Drexel Hill, Pa., was found dead lying behind the Jeep.

One bullet entered Foster's back at the base of his rib cage, then deflected up through his chest and is lodged in his neck squarely in front of his spine.

"I think we'll just leave it there," said Lt. Col. Harold Hamit of Mill Valley, Calif. "It apparently has done all the damage it's going to do."

'Pray for Peace,' He Wrote

Theresa GI Victim of North Korean Ambush

THERESA, Wis. (AP) — Army Private David A. Seiler of Theresa, who was killed in a Communist ambush in Korea Monday, urged in his last letter that his family "pray for peace."

The 24-year-old Seiler and another soldier were killed in a dawn attack just south of a demilitarized zone about 20 miles from Seoul as they rode in a jeep to a guard post.

Another American and four North Korean army troops were killed in a second outbreak of shooting today.

Seiler, in the Army since last December, wrote his last letter on July 21, expressing deep concern for his mother's health and the condition of his father's crops, dried out in a drought that gripped Wisconsin earlier in the month.

"I hope ma is okay and real fine after her operation," wrote Seiler. "I hope the crops and the pigs do okay. I hope you get some rain. We got plenty here."

Training, Night Duty

He continued, "We were training last week and on night duty this week," and concluded the letter, "Pray for peace and I'll see you next year."

"Those damn Commies. They're a bunch of skunks," said his embittered father, Erich, a farmer near this south-eastern Wisconsin community.

But Mrs. Seiler said, "You can't blame those boys (Communists). They only do what they're told — just like our boys. Their countries train them to kill. You can't blame them."

"David was a good boy," said his father. "He and his (three) brothers hoped to earn enough money to buy their own farm. He always preferred farm work to city work."

Charles House, Post-Crescent staff writer, wrote the opening article and will follow with three more.

David Duffy, Post-Crescent News Service, is writing the last part of the series after a trip in to northern Wisconsin to study the situation.

Add Horns or Tusks to Piggy Bank; Use Straws for Them

By CAPPY DICK

A piggy bank can be turned into a rhinoceros bank or a wild boar bank by adding a pair of horns or tusks made from soda straws. Figures 2 and 3 show what can be accomplished.

To make a pair of rhino horns, cut two pieces of soda straw, one longer than the other as in Figure 1. The length of the horns will depend upon the size of the ceros or a wild boar, the fact remains that your docile piggy, by the addition of horns or tusks, has become a ferocious wild creature that will guard your money night and day.

Today's Word: Dehortation: the act of dissuading. (Pronounce dee-hore-tay-shun, accent third syllable). "Dehortation by his friends made him reconsider his resignation from the company."

Air Force Planes Snare Capsules Falling to Earth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says its recovery planes are perfecting the technique of snaring space capsules out of the air as they parachute back from orbit.

In revealing this the Air Force said recovery flights by the 6503rd Test Squadron, based at Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, have been so successful in two years of operations that they are now considered almost routine.

The disclosure came in an announcement that the Air Force has given the test squadron the outstanding unit award for its work in recovering capsules from its little-publicized series of satellite launches.

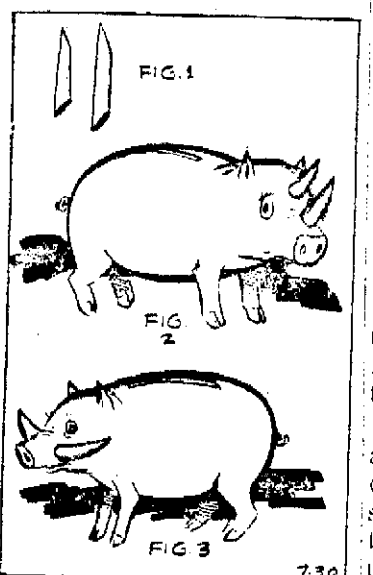

The Air Force has been launching satellites from Point Arguello, Calif., with little fanfare.

What information that has been released indicates the satellites have included those of the Discoverer type launched in a polar orbit.

Is it normal for a man to marry a younger version of his mother?

Yes — No —

Yes, it is quite normal. A boy grows up feeling loved and understood by his mother who after all is the first woman in his life. As he begins to get acquainted with girls about his own age or a little younger, he unconsciously compares them with his mother. Those who fall too far short of her image are left behind. He ultimately chooses for a wife someone who gives him the same general kind of relationship (and a lot more) that he found satisfying with his mother. A girl can be flattered and pleased when she finds her boy friend comparing her with his mother.

Firemen's Pay Raises Cause 'Dissension'

Salary Differences Narrowed by Change In Wage Schedule

Pay increases granted several members of the Appleton Fire Department Jan. 1 have been a source of "agitation and dissension," it was reported today.

An investigation into the salary schedule of the department was requested by the fire and police commission in a letter to the common council's finance committee.

George C. Dame, commission secretary, wrote that since the pay hikes were authorized for the low echelon firemen the difference in pay between the lowest and highest men has narrowed considerably.

Seven Men

"This has been brought to our attention by the men affected and by the fire chief," Dame said.

It was pointed out that those specifically affected were assistant inspectors, mechanics and the clerk, a total of seven men.

"It has been a source of agitation and dissension in the fire department," Dame wrote.

Chief Roland Kuehl said the revised salary schedule put some men in the position of receiving a promotion in their work but no added salary increase.

Wants Study

Dame called upon the finance committee to "investigate the matter to determine if the men have a legitimate complaint, and if so what can be done about it."

Ald. Harold H. Hannemann (10th) is finance committee chairman. The group is scheduled to meet Thursday night and the fire department pay matter may come up at that time.

Outagamie Residents Show 3.8 Pct. Hike in Net Earnings

NEW YORK—Outagamie County residents recorded an increase of 3.8 per cent in earnings during the past fiscal year, it has been announced by Sales Management, which examines market trends in every section of the country.

The Outagamie County percentage compared with the national increase of 3.2 per cent.

Area counties and their increases are Calumet, 3.2; Waupaca, 3.9; and Winnebago, 3.6.

The Sales Management report shows that net incomes in Outagamie County for the year were $198,657,000, compared with $188,650,000 last year.

This represents an increase per household of $256 from $6,714 per year to $6,970.

Retail sales in Outagamie were $132,285,000, compared with $122,221,000 last year.

Calumet County figures for total net income, income per family and total retail sales, compared to the last year's totals, are $37,069, $5,979 and $5,792; and $17,846 and $17,342.

Totals in Waupaca County for incomes, compared with the previous year, are $36,115, $5,294 and $5,095; and $46,502 and $44,487.

Winnebago County lists the following figures and last year's comparisons: net income, $231,325, $219,869 last year; income per family, $7,096, $6,850 last year; and retail sales, $140,497, $129,669 last year.

Retail sales increases were due largely to high increases in car and electrical appliances for the home purchases.

Most other retail outlets, including those selling food and other soft goods, also recorded increases during the fiscal year, according to the report.

Continuation Seen

Nationally, indications show that the first six months of 1963 have seen a continuation of the business upturn which marked last year. Incomes and consumer spending have continued to rise.

Hand-in-hand with the increased spending on the part of the public has been a marked drop in the rate of saving. Last year's figures showed that Americans saved about seven per cent of disposable income, compared with the present rate of six per cent.

Every Little Bit Helps

Girls Give $3.06 to Aid Brain-Injured Boy

Four little girls knocked on the door of the Mathias Hoffmann home the other night.

They had given a talent show, they explained, and they wanted to give the proceeds to the Hoffmanns to help send their son Lee, a brain-injured child to a special school in Racine.

The little girls handed the Hoffmanns their $3.06 profits and rode away on their bicycles.

It was help toward obtaining the $5,000-a-year tuition at the Cove School in Racine for 9-year-old Lee. It is believed that after three years there the boy will be able to return to regular classroom activities and lead a normal life.

The little girls were Judy and Mary Dengel, Jan Labore and Judy Kimball.

Others who read of the Hoffmanns' needs in a story in the July 21 Post-Crescent have contributed toward Lee's tuition. Gifts include $40 from the Outagamie County Deputy Sheriffs Association and three individual contributions of $1, $10 and $100.

Sacred Heart Catholic Parish to which the Hoffmanns belong, has promised to make up the difference between the contributions and the first $600 tuition payment due Wednesday.

The Chain O'Lakes Saddle club staged its annual horse show Sunday at the club grounds, southwest of Waupaca. Bob Barriaux, Green Bay, was the reserve grand champion of the halter division, while his son Bob "Butch" Barbiaux, 9, won first place in the boot run with his pony, "Peanuts." It was the only pony entered in the event. Roger Topping, a member of the sponsoring club, is shown with the winners. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Waupaca Man Injured in One-Car Crash

SCANDINAVIA — One injury and more than $900 damage resulted from a one-car crash near the intersection of State 49 and Waupaca County Trunk B about two miles north of here at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Clayton Smith, 75, 515 Center St., Waupaca, received lacerations of the forehead in the accident. Smith told Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork he blacked out and lost control of his car. Police said the vehicle went on to the north shoulder of State 49, hit a cattle railing underpass and railings and ran into a large rock before rolling over and stopping. The vehicle had been traveling west on State 49.

CD Aid Kits Distributed In Calumet

CHILTON—Radiological monitoring and medical self-help kits have been distributed in strategic points throughout Calumet County, Roland Miller, county Civil Defense director, has announced.

The monitoring kits have been placed in the fire stations at Chilton, Brillion, Sherwood and New Holstein. Each unit contains one geiger counter with a measuring range of zero to 50 miliroentgens per hour, two survey meters, two dosimeters and one dosimeter charger. Both the survey meters and the dosimeters have varied ranges.

The county's five high schools — Chilton, New Holstein, Brillion, Hilbert and Stockbridge — received the self-help kits. They consist of 11 training lessons dealing primarily with basic first aid and care of the injured until a physician arrives. The material will be included in the regular school curriculum beginning with the new school term.

Appleton Will Have to Wait For Armory

Federal Government Building 1 National Guard Site in State

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Construction of a proposed half million dollar National Guard Armory and maintenance center in Appleton to serve the Fox Cities region will not materialize in 1963, it was reported today.

The Appleton Common Council donated 23 acres of land in the city's industrial park to the state for armory construction purposes with the stipulation that building must start within a two-year period.

Instead of constructing three new armories in Wisconsin this year as originally planned, the federal government plans to erect but one, according to world received by Maj. Gen. Ralph Olson, Madison, state adjutant general.

"There is a possibility the federal government may allocate Wisconsin but one new armory a year in the future," Olson said.

It was explained that the new armory program was slowed down as the result of a cut in construction funds in Washington. Olson said the information was received from the National Guard Bureau.

Olson said his office was constantly in touch with the bureau and federal officials concerning the armory program. The word is that 19 new armories will be built in the country this year with Wisconsin getting one.

Appleton at the present time is not at the top of the priority list which was revised recently because of a national guard division reorganization undertaken by the Pentagon.

Reedsburg is No. 1 on the list and probably will receive the lone new facility allocated to Wisconsin this year. Black River Falls is second.

Stoughton had been second until a recent reorganization of national guard units in that area and has now been "bumped" by Viroqua, which has third priority.

The Appleton-Neenah-Menasha armory now ranks fourth on the list. "If the policy of building three new armories a year had not been changed, your area would have gotten a new armory this year," Olson said.

The allocation of federal funds is controlled by the military appropriation and construction committee of the Congress. Rep. Melvin Laird (R), Marshfield, is a member of the committee.

In addition to teaching sixth grade, Herrmann will handle the administrative end of the elementary department, Gordon said. He also will be in charge of the elementary in-service teacher program.

One vacancy, for a third grade teacher, still exists in the department faculty. The high school faculty is set, Gordon said.

Neenah Police Aid Stranded Sailboat

NEENAH — The Neenah police boat was called into service at 6:11 p.m. Saturday when it received a distress call from a disabled sailboat at the mouth of the Neenah river. The boat was towed in at 6:45 p.m. No reason was given by police for the boat being disabled.

Criticizes Watchman

Board Wants Tighter Operation at Museum

Operating policies may be tightened in the future at the Grignon Home, an Outagamie County-owned museum in Kaukauna open to the public since 1938.

The county's park committee today took to task the procedures of museum watchman Otto Warnecke, who, it was reported during the meeting today, has been taking tips and charging rent for use of the shelter kitchen at the museum.

Supv. Arthur Hoolihan said today he asked Warnecke about a jar in the Grignon Home which had the working "tips" on a piece of paper. Hoolihan said Warnecke told him the tips were from visitors who entered the home. Warnecke told Hoolihan he made it a practice to "keep the money himself."

Hoolihan also told the committee today that money given to the caretaker for use of a shelter home near the Grignon Home "was not accounted for to the county."

Although no money is charged for using the shelter house, Hoolihan said, often times some money would be left behind by the users "because they did not clean up the kitchen." The money was left for the caretaker "and he would clean up the house," Hoolihan said.

Hoolihan said after the meeting there was nothing illegal about the practice, but the money should be accounted for to the county.

Chores "Farmed Out"

Hoolihan said that the caretaker "does nothing more than show people through the home." Several chores which are supposed to be done by the watchman "are being farmed out," Hoolihan said the caretaker pays a Kaukauna youth $5 to mow the grass.

Supv. Eugene Kloes said the committee will recommend "stronger policies" in the operation of the museum. He said signs will be placed in the home indicating that no charge is to be paid for the use of the shelter house.

Kloes also said that signs asking that "no tips" be made would also be placed in the house.

May Use Permit

"In the future," Kloes said, "it would be a good idea to assign the use of the shelter house through a permit." In that way, Kloes said, the county will know when the shelter house will be in use.

Kloes also suggested that an updated "catalog" of all the items in the home be taken. Hoolihan had reported that an investigation has shown that some items donated to the home have been missing.

Seymour School District Has Value Over $36 Million

City Largest of 11 Units Considered in Tax Structure

SEYMOUR — The state's 1962 equalized valuation for the new Seymour Community School district is $36,260,700, according to Mrs. Jean Melchert, district clerk. Assessed valuation for the district is $23,102,746.

Eleven units are considered in the tax structure of the district. The City of Seymour is the largest, representing 36.6 per cent of the total. The city's equalized level is $9,328,900 and its assessed total $8,457,135.

The Town of Cicero ranks second in equalized valuation with $5,623,200, or 11.07 per cent of the total. Assessed valuation, however, is only $2,558,534. The Town of Seymour ranks a close third in size with equalized valuation of $5,573,100 and $3,022,150 assessed.

Other tax paying units and their totals as they rank follow: Town of Oneida, $4,287,200 equalized and $2,326,215 assessed; Town of Black Creek, $3,472,300 equalized and $2,009,835 assessed; Town of Osborn, $2,909,100 and $1,363,365; Village of Black Creek, $2,889,700 and $2,392,725; Town of Center, $1,260,400 and $332,670; Maple Grove (Shawano County), $527,100 and $262,680; Town of Lessor (Shawano County), $205,800 and $84,107; and Town of Maine, $181,900 and $93,310.

The average rate of total assessed versus total equalized valuation for the district is 63.71 per cent. All 11 units do not assess at an equal rate. It ranges all the way from a high of 90.65 in the City of Seymour and 89.80 in the Village of Black Creek to a low of 40.86 in the Town of Lessor (Shawano County) and 42.26 in the Town of Cicero.

Elementary Principal Post Filled at Chilton

George Herrmann Will Teach, Direct Primary Program

CHILTON — A newly created position at Chilton Public Schools, elementary department principal, has been filled. A. W. Gordon, superintendent, has announced.

George Herrmann, 23, a Manitowoc native, has been hired for the post. Herrmann has accepted a contract, Gordon said.

The new teacher and principal has been teaching in the Muskego elementary school system for the last six years and has been assistant principal at Muskego for the last two years. He was graduated by Manitowoc County College in 1955, received his bachelor of science degree from Oshkosh State College in 1957 and was awarded a master of arts degree by Colorado State College last year.

Herrmann's hiring ended a two-year search for a qualified candidate by the Chilton Board of Education. The board recognized the need for an elementary principal in 1961 but a shortage of qualified candidates delayed the move.

In addition to teaching sixth grade, Herrmann will handle the administrative end of the elementary department, Gordon said. He also will be in charge of the elementary in-service teacher program.

One vacancy, for a third grade teacher, still exists in the department faculty. The high school faculty is set, Gordon said.

No Injuries in Neenah Car Crash

NEENAH — An undertermined amount of damage was caused shortly after 5:30 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by Robert J. Babcock, 39, 316 Second St., Menasha, attempted to pass a stopped auto driven by Richard W. Tuszka, 21, 408 Walnut St., Menasha, on Commercial Street and was hit in the left rear fender by the Tuszka vehicle.

There were no injuries.

Four Valley Bands to Play At State Fair

High School Units To Compete for Governor's Trophy

Four Fox Valley area high school bands are scheduled to compete in the sixth annual High School Summer Band contest at the 1963 Wisconsin State Fair.

Participating bands are Weyauwega Union, Shawano, Shiocton and Bonduel. The first three will present half-hour concerts Aug. 12; the last will perform Aug. 14. The bands will be rated by a midwest judge. The band judged to have the best performance, appearance, interest and discipline wins the Governor's Trophy.

Daily Concert
Bands rated superior and excellent in the contest will receive uniform medals and trophies or wall plaques.

The official State Fair Band will present a free concert at 6 p.m. each day at the bandshell on the Mall. Fair visitors also are invited to the nighttime rehearsals of the State Fair Band. Members of the 4-H Band and Chorus will give a special 25th Anniversary program Aug. 15. The Future Farmers of America band will play Aug. 17. Members of both groups represent many communities throughout Wisconsin.

The nationally-known "Milwaukee Teen" square dancers in their gold and white costumes will twirl and whirl in the bandshell Aug. 17.

Navy Musical Units
On both Sundays at the Fair, the Great Lakes Navy Band from Great Lakes Training Center will perform. Led by Chief Warrant Officer F. W. Brumbaugh, the musicians are graduates of the Naval School of Music, Washington, D. C. Many are World War II and Korean War veterans. They travel about 25,000 miles each year, playing for dances, on radio and television, at sports events, in high schools and colleges and at winter and water carnivals.

A Navy chaplain organized the Bluejacket Choir in 1940. The 40 present members, all Navy recruits, are led by E. D. Sandager. They will perform Aug. 11. The State Fair runs Aug. 9-18.

High Speed Auto Chase Nets New London Youth Jail Term

NEW LONDON — Attempting to run away from the New London Police resulted in fines and costs totaling $267 Monday morning for Robert L. Young, 22, route 2. He appeared before Municipal Justice Herman H. Platte and pleaded guilty to four charges which stemmed from a high speed chase Sunday night.

Young was held in the city jail until his court appearance and was then transferred to the Waupaca County jail for 105 days when he was unable to pay his fine.

Young was fined $25 for failure to yield to an emergency vehicle, $125 for speeding 100 miles per hour in a 55 mile per hour zone, $10 for operating an unregistered vehicle and $75 for disorderly conduct.

The case started at 3 p.m. Monday when Patrolmen Robert Webb and Richard Fritz noticed a car without license plates traveling north on Shawano Street. Police said they used the squad car's red light and siren in an attempt to stop Young, but he raced north on U.S. 45, reaching speeds up to 100 miles per hour before he left the city limits. After leaving the city, Young led police north to Sugar Rush Corners where he turned right and went through Su-

Chilton AC's Top Pipe, 5-4

Schoenung, Pagel Star for Winners; 1st Inning Decisive

CHILTON — The first five Chilton AC batsmen to step to the plate Sunday at Pipe, collected singles to trigger a decisive three-run rally in a 5-4 decision over the hosts.

For Chilton the win was the second in second round competition in the Eastshore League against one loss. Pipe has lost two and won one.

After yielding consecutive singles to Joe Ketter, Wayne Pagel, Jim Compton, Dick Hackbarth and Jerry Daun, Pipe hurler Don Haensgen settled down to fan 15 AC's. The fire-baller was touched for 11 hits, three by Pagel. Single runs in the fourth and seventh innings proved to be the eventual margin of victory for the AC's, who battle Marytown at Marytown next week.

Pipe scored single runs in the first and third frames before generating a modest two-run rally in the ninth.

Winning hurler Charles Schoenung fanned 11 Pipe batters and walked two. He yielded nine safeties, three by Orville Rieder.

Two Injured In Accident At Waupaca
WAUPACA — Two people were injured in a two-car crash, resulting in an estimated $750 in damages, on the Berlin Street bridge here at about 3:10 p.m. Sunday.

Joyce Young, 18, Milwaukee, complained of an injury to her left knee, and Annette Meyer, 18, Milwaukee, complained of head injuries. They were among seven people riding in an auto being driven by Carol Baudino, 17, Milwaukee.

Police said the Baudino auto was traveling north around the curve before the bridge, when it swerved into the left lane and into the path of an auto being driven by Donald G. Besch, 37, Fond du Lac. The autos collided almost head-on.

Neither Besch nor a passenger in his auto was injured, but an estimated $350 damage was done to the front of his car, and an estimated $400 damage to the front of the Baudino vehicle.

Yankees Hold One Game Lead In Boys' Loop

New London League Begins Final Week Of Baseball Play

NEW LONDON — Going into the final week of play in the New London Boys' League, the Yankees hold a one game lead over the Orioles and Braves, who are tied for second place with records of 11 wins and three losses.

The Yankees picked up their 12th win of the season against two losses last week when they downed the Orioles in a 5-4 battle. Ted Huber, blasted his 12th home run of the season, scoring three runs to aid his team in the victory for first place in the Major League. Huber was also the winning pitcher.

The final standings may well be decided tonight when the Orioles and Yankees play again. A three way tie is possible if the Orioles and Braves win their games. The Braves will be playing the fourth place Giants tonight.

Following the Giants, who have a 10-4 record, are the Red Sox, 6-8; White Sox, 4-9; Phillies, 4-10; Cardinals, 2-12; and the Dodgers 1-13.

A tight race also has developed in the Minor League, which is also going into the final week of play. The top spot is held by the Panthers who have a 10-3 record but the next three teams are close behind. The tigers are in second place with nine wins; the champions games of both leagues will be played at Hatten Park stadium under the lights.

Winners Named In Baseball Loop Fund Campaign
NEW LONDON — Winners of a recent New London Boy's League fund raising project have been announced.

David Roepke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Roepke, sold the most cards in the league. He received a baseball glove and bat, which was presented Monday night at one of the league's games. David is a member of the Minor League Lions.

The top boy in each team will receive a bat. Elmer Thiel, league treasurer said the bats will be awarded at this week's games. Major League winners are: Steve Yaeger, Red Sox; Augie Freuche, Braves; Gary Slosarek, Yankees; Harold Collar, White Sox; Don Fuhrman, Phillies; Don Sawall, Orioles; Mark Patton, Giants; Dave Drath, Cardinals and David Brown, Dodgers.

Bat winners of the Minor League are Randy Thiel, Wolves; Terry Nift, Panthers; Kenneth Ebert, Bears; Don Krastue, Tigers; Roger Steingraber, Badgers; Richard Stebs, Cubs; Marc Lehman, Cobras; Ben Peters, Cats; and Jim Ott and Thor Hanson of the Foxes.

The Badgers of the Minor League sold the most cards. Thiel said the league made a net profit of $596 in the two-week drive. Last year during a cookie drive the league netted $471.

with nine wins and four losses. Other standings of the Minors are the Cats, 8-5; Lions, 6-6; Badgers, 6-7; Bears, 5-9; Foxes, 5-9; and the Cobras, 5-11.

Tournament play will begin Aug. 15 and continue to Aug. 14 when the championship games of both leagues will be played at Hatten Park stadium under the lights.

No Cost to Athlete

Chilton Plans Mass Health Examinations

CHILTON — Mass physical and dental examinations for all boys who plan to participate in any interscholastic sport at Chilton High School during the coming school term will be given at the high school gym Aug. 6, John Freidel, high school athletic department representative, has announced.

This method of completing the examinations of the athletes was tried successfully last year, Freidel said. A group of local doctors and dentists will be present to conduct the examinations, which will be given at no cost to the athlete. In this way the athletes will not be required to make individual office appointments with doctors and dentists, Freidel said.

Letters explaining the program and examination cards will be mailed to each prospective athlete. Freidel emphasized that all athletes, not only football players, should take advantage of the program. If they fail to do so, the examination will become their individual responsibility.

Parental signatures are required on both halves of the form, Freidel said. Athletes cannot participate in sport practice sessions until the card has been completed and signed.

Many Whites Fear Negro

BY RELMAN MORIN

MACON COUNTY, Ala., (AP)—It is not uncommon in the South to hear a segregationist say that, by and large, he likes the Negro. He sees no inconsistency between having an affection for Negroes and at the same time defending a system that denies them full equality. "The Negroes as a whole just aren't ready yet," he says. "It's not their fault, but that's the way it is at this point."

A key point in his reasoning is that the great majority of Negroes are like children and that, for the time being, they must be treated as such.

A composite of many conversations with the thoughtful type of segregationist goes pretty much like this:

"When I was a kid, my best friend was a colored boy. We played together, fished together, slept side by side on hunting trips.

"After we grew up, I paid his hospital bills and loaned him money when he needed it. I went to the weddings and funerals in his family and he came to ours. On Saturday night, when he got into trouble with the law, who went to the jail at 2 a.m. and bailed him out? I did."

Comfortable Relationship
It was a comfortable, harmonious relationship, he says.

Even today, while racial strife rises toward the danger point in many places, you can still see this relationship between individual Negroes and whites in the south.

Here is a cotton plantation deep in Alabama.

It is about 10 miles from the nearest community, the nearest sheriff or policeman. In the county, Negroes outnumber the whites, five to one.

The doors of the planter's home are never locked. When he has to travel, he tells the Negro foreman, "I'll be away a few days. You look after things around here."

Driving into the plantation, you see a softball game in a field near the planter's house. Three of his children, including a girl, are playing with the children of the Negro "hoe hands."

Oldest Boy
In the sun-drenched afternoon, the oldest boy goes fishing with two Negro boys. He brings the sandwiches.

Some miles away, in a corner of the plantation, an aged Negro woman sits, rocking on the porch. She is the widow of a "hoe hand" who worked here many years. The house is hers as long as she lives.

The planter asks if she is all right. "Gettin' along jes' fine," she says.

A little scene takes place in the cotton fields. As the Negroes stop work for their mid-day meal, the planter slips a dollar bill into a woman's hand. He tells a man to "drive her to the store."

For some reason, she had brought no food to the fields that morning. "Maybe she hasn't got any money," the planter says, "or maybe she just plain forgot. But I sure can't see her go without eatin'."

In the winter, when the fields are bare, he finds other work on the plantation for his "hoe hands." They have to eat in the winter, too.

The integrationist calls this "Uncle Tomism," and the militant Negro says it is "paternalism," archaic, degrading the Negro, numbing his effort to develop himself.

Let's look further. The planter frequently works in the fields beside the "hoe hands." The relationship appears completely comfortable. Little jokes are in language largely unintelligible to a Yankee—pass between them. They agree that the cotton looks good.

"Way I figure," says the Negro foreman, "the better the boss does, the better we do." There will be a bonus for them at Christmas.

24 Years
He has been on this plantation 24 years, another man for 17, several others for 8 to 10 years.

The foreman once went to Florida and worked for a year. He came back. Some of the others went north for jobs. They came, or a lunch counter, use the same

Similar Reasons
For similar reasons, he doesn't want his wife and daughter to sit next to a Negro in a movie theater.

What is the naked basis of the white man's resistance to integration of the Negro in America? Here is a hard look at the core of the problem, often hidden behind polite reasons and rationalizations. Second of a special series of articles comprehensively surveying both sides of today's racial crisis.

An Eight-Year-Old Girl attempts to teach her family cook how to ride a bicycle in Bostwick, Ga., symbolizing the sincere warmth that exists between individual members of the two races in parts of the south. Adult segregationists, who sometimes share the same feelings toward individual Negroes, say the Negro has not developed sufficiently for equal rights. Negro leaders label this attitude "Uncle Tomism," and maintain it prevents progress toward equality. (AP Wirephoto) back, too. All of them have been to school, three, five, six years.

You see television antennae on the Negro houses. The foreman says he saw pictures of the disturbances at Birmingham and elsewhere, North and South. What did he think?

"Well," he says, "they are sorry colored folks and they are sorry white folks everywhere, and I wish they'd both jes' leave us alone."

Whether this is the attitude, generally, of the Negro field workers in Macon County is difficult to say. Even the whites who consider themselves on close personal terms with their Negroes say they don't know what "hoe hands" are thinking, as the clash and clatter of racial trouble comes nearer.

Not all segregationists, of course, profess to like Negroes. There is the bigot, ridden with fear and hatred of the Negro, clutching his prejudices. He is the night-rider, shooting indiscriminately into Negro homes, dumping garbage on the front porch of white integrationists.

To anyone who pleads for reason and good will in the struggle over civil rights, he scrawls a "hate letter." It is misspelled, ungrammatical, frequently obscene, dripping venom.

Skin Color
"That type of white man," says a Southern newspaper woman, "is at the bottom of the scale and he knows it. The only thing that separates him from an equally poor, uneducated Negro is the color of his skin. He has to look down on somebody so he looks down on the Negro."

But what about the segregationist who says he has a genuine affection for his Negro friends? How does he square this with the fact of injustice and inequality?

He begins with a basic premise, a conviction that underlies most of his attitudes—that, by and large, the Negro has not yet reached a stage of development where he is ready for full equality.

"No race on earth ever made so much progress in 100 years as the Negroes have made," he says. "But they did it with the guidance of the white man and they still need our guidance."

Flowing from that comes his opposition to integrated schools. "The Negro doesn't have the same capacity for learning," he says. "Moreover, his home environment is seldom conducive to study. So why should my children be held back to his pace? They're both better off in schools where they can advance at their own pace."

The segregationists also say that Negro children frequently come to school unclean and wearing dirty clothes. He says they come from homes with a high rate of illegitimacy and adds, "I don't want my kids sitting next to kids who talk openly about what they have seen at home."

Does he really believe the Negro's ultimate goal is to "marry your daughter?" Yes, he does. He's convinced of it.

As to the Negro's right to vote, one segregationist said, "There's no reason why their best people shouldn't vote, those who are educated, literate, and able to make a judgment on candidates and issues. But there aren't many with these qualifications."

So it goes, consistently, over point after point—the assertion that the Negro's level of development is not yet at a stage where he is ready for full equality.

"What he is asking, segregationists say, 'is the rights without the responsibilities'."

I once asked a Southern newspaper editor, a segregationist, to itemize the five or six principal reasons why so many Southerners believe in segregation. On the back of an envelope, he set down the various points. Leading his list was one word: "Habit."

Not Really From Uranus
Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — British bomb disposal experts have blasted one of the most convincing flying saucer stories heard in these parts in recent years.

It all began when a crater suddenly and mysteriously appeared near the village of Charlton, Wiltshire, giving rise to speculation in local pubs that the little folks from Mars or some other planet had come calling.

While army bomb disposal men dug into the crater to see what had caused it, Dr. Robert Randall of nearby North Tidworth, who describes himself as an astrophysicist, produced a detailed story to explain the phenomenon.

The crater, he announced, had undoubtedly been caused by spacecraft from the planet Uranus, which is 1,783,980,000 miles from the Sun. The spacecraft, he added, weighed about 600 tons, was 500 feet in diameter and stood on tripod legs 90 feet off the ground.

"Faulty Tripod"
The commander of the craft, Dr. Randall explained, probably sent out a repair team of 50 men to patch up one of the tripods when it proved faulty. He knew this, he said, because he had found their footprints near the crater.

Dr. Randall supported his assertions by explaining that he had worked at the Woomera Rocket Base in Australia and had had similar experience "down under" with visitors from Uranus.

Australian government representatives in London said they couldn't find any record of a Dr. Randall having worked at Woomera.

Then the bubble burst when a bomb disposal officer announced that the crater had been caused by the explosion of a wartime German dud bomb, which had exploded due to deterioration.

Cattle Breeders Plan Meeting

Earl Woldt Farm Near Seymour Site
Of Annual Event

The annual Guernsey Twilight meeting for Guernsey cattle-breeders and their families will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Earl Woldt farm, route 1, Seymour. It has been announced by John Powers, Outagamie County agricultural agent.

The Woldt farm is located one-half mile west of Seymour on State 54.

Five-Year-Old Insists on Drinking Milk From Bottle

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: My 5-year-old boy can't understand why the 3-year-old girl two doors down still drinks from a bottle. He has asked me why he can't have one and I tell him that he's a big boy. He comes back with the statement that his brother who is 3 years old isn't a big boy but doesn't take a bottle. How can I explain all this?

MRS. D.F.
Ask your children if they want to drink their milk at the next few meals from bottles. And let all day. She lets her 1-year-old Richard Cudahy, president of the them. Dear Eve Jones: Why do some children swallow gum while others seem to know how to chew it? My 2½-year-old girl can't keep a piece of gum in her mouth longer than a few minutes without swallowing it.

MRS. G.K.
It takes a lot of self-control and foresight to chew without swallowing or to suck without biting. Most children younger than 4 crunch hard candy and swallow chewing gum because they aren't able to forestall the pleasure of biting and swallowing.

Relatives of Rural Withee Man Sought

Funeral services for a rural Withee man believed to have relatives in or near Kaukauna will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Hoeper and Kraut Funeral Home, Owen.

The rites are for Louis Krueger, route 1, Withee, who died in an auto accident Monday. He was the last of four brothers who operated a farm one mile south of Withee.

Krueger and his brothers were the sons of Ludwig and Caroline Korb Krueger. They were all bachelors and had no relatives in the Withee area. Any person who can prove his relation to Krueger is likely to inherit his estate.

The funeral home said that when Krueger's brother died four years ago, two women and a man attended his funeral. However, only Louis was present for the funeral of his brother Leslie last year.

The fourth brother Ennis was killed in a gun battle with authorities who tried to get the four men to register for the draft in 1918. They refused for religious reasons. The death of a depot agent during one of the gun battles sent two of the brothers to prison.

Final Meeting Set for Little Chute Board

LITTLE CHUTE — The final meeting of the board of review will be conducted at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the village hall.

To date only two property owners have appeared before the board to protest their assessments.

Woman Wills Entire Estate To Homestead

CHILTON — A New Holstein woman who died Feb. 9, 1963, left her entire estate to the Calumet Homestead Auxiliary, according to a will proved last week in Calumet County Probate Court before Judge D. H. Seбора.

The bequest was listed in the will of Mrs. Dortha Lau. She died at New Holstein at the age of 89. The estate has been estimated at being in excess of $3,000.

Calumet Clerk Issues 3 Building Permits

CHILTON — The three building permits issued last week by Roland E. Miller, county clerk and chief zoning administrator, called for construction work estimated at $6,500.

Included were a permit to Wallace D. Martin, Town of Charlestown, dwelling remodeling, $3,500; William Hoerth, Town of New Holstein, dwelling improvement, $1,300; and Otto Steiner, Town of New Holstein, new cement silo, $1,700.

Chilton School Board Re-Schedules Meeting

CHILTON — The meeting date for the Chilton Board of Education has been advanced a week, A. W. Gordon, superintendent of schools, announced Monday.

Instead of meeting Aug. 12, the second Monday of the month, board members will convene Aug. 15 at the high school for their regular monthly board session.

Neenah Swim Squad Outpoints Kaukauna

Daneta Downie Sets 3 Records In 240-146 Win

NEENAH — Daneta Downie and Janet Bandelin each captured four firsts as the Neenah Recreation swimmers topped Kaukauna 240 to 146 in a dual meet here Monday night.

Miss Downie established three new pool records, winning the 11-12 backstroke in 18.4 (the old mark was 19.0) the 11-12 breaststroke in 21.4 (22.1) and the butterfly in 17.9, chopping almost four seconds off the former standard of 21.5.

Another new record included a 45.4 by Renee Wessenberg in the 15-17 breaststroke. The old mark was 46 seconds. Sue Behnke of Kaukauna won the 13-14 breaststroke in 47.5 for the fifth new mark.

Miss Bandelin won the girls 10 and under backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly and freestyle.

Firm Didn't Pay Right Wage Rate, Official Charges

Charges that the LeRoy Geiger Construction Co., Appleton, failed to pay an employee the established rate of wages while he worked on a City of Appleton project, have been made by Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Named as the complainant in the case is David Krueger, a former employee of the construction firm. Krueger worked for the firm from June through Oct. 6, 1962. Krueger was a tractor operator.

Representatives of the firm are to appear in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Aug. 23 to answer the charge.

The warrant came after a series of investigations by Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenz and Schaefer.

Krueger has claimed he was being paid common labor wages while he was working as a tractor operator. Teamster business agent Robert Schlieve contended the act was a violation of the contract. Schlieve was instrumental in taking the complaint to Schaefer after a city board of public works turned down his request for a hearing on the matter.

CHILTON — A demonstration on the use of weathered wood and drift wood for decorative purposes will highlight the next meeting of the Chilton Garden Club Aug. 12 at the city hall.

Conducting the demonstration will be Mrs. Herman Sonn, Fond du Lac.

Man Pleads Innocent To Drunken Driving

James O. Lutz, 29, 519 E. Alice St., pleaded innocent of drunken driving and will face trial Jan. 23. He appeared Monday in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 where he posted bond of $250. Lutz was arrested by county police July 25 at County Trunk Road and N. Oneida Street.

Youth Hurt In Auto Crash Near Potter

POTTER — John A. Behnke, 21, 150 Calumet St., Brillion, suffered bruised ribs and contusions early Saturday morning when the car he was driving rolled after hitting a railroad crossing signal post here.

Behnke told Calumet County police an oncoming car forced him off State 114 as he approached the Soo Line crossing from the west. His car hit the crossing marker and rolled across the tracks. The vehicle was demolished as a result of the 2:30 a.m. mishap.

Behnke was treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, and released.

Seven Witnesses To be Heard in Accident Inquest

Seven witnesses will be questioned Thursday before a six-man coroner's jury on circumstances surrounding the traffic deaths of Paul G. Esler, 15, and Robert Rohach, 16, both of Kaukauna.

The inquest will be held in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 at 2 p.m. Both died of injuries received when the car they were riding in went off a curve on County Trunk Q in the City of Kaukauna, June 5. The car was being chased by County Patrolman Robert Keating. The inquest has been called by Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

Questioned will be Keating, James F. Boudry, a deputy with Keating at the time of the accident, Patrolman Dean Ball of the Kaukauna Police Department; Capt. Ronald Decker of the county patrol, Carlton E. Schmidt, 215 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, a witness; and David Schuette, 13, and Bernard Smith, 16, both of Kaukauna, involved in the accident.

Man Sentenced To Reformatory For One Year

CHILTON — Eugene A. Brux, 27, Appleton, was sentenced Monday to one year in the Wisconsin State Reformatory, Green Bay, by Calumet County Judge D. H. Seбора for probation violation.

Brux was brought to court by a probation officer of the state department of public welfare after Brux failed to meet the terms of his probation.

He was arrested in April, 1962, and charged with failure to support his wife and two minor children. He admitted the offense May 11 before Judge D. H. Seбора and was placed on probation for a year. A year later, May 7, 1963, the probation was extended after Brux again failed to provide support for his family. It was revoked this week after another violation.

Outagamie County Ready To Discuss Regional Airport

Supervisors Express Willingness To Meet With Winnebago Officers

When the CAB hearing on regional airport designation is resumed at Washington, D. C. Thursday, the Outagamie County Airport Committee will indicate its willingness to meet with Winnebago County officials in a joint attempt to solve the major problem.

Meeting Monday, the Outagamie County Airport Committee adopted a resolution which will be presented to Edward T. Stodola, Civil Aeronautics Board examiner, who suggested at recent hearings at Wausau that Winnebago and Outagamie counties should go together on a regional airport facility.

It is expected the Outagamie County committee will say that it stands ready to meet with the representatives of Winnebago County "in a spirit of cooperation" to discuss the possibility of a regional airport in line with Stodola's suggestion, which was interpreted by many observers as a recommendation.

Chairman Absent
Four of the five county airport committee members who attended the meeting signed the resolution and instructed Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath to submit it to Stodola as the hearing opens, Supervisor Mark Catlin, committee chairman, is vacationing out of the city and did not attend.

The committee directed Ponath to testify at the Washington hearing as to the committee's stand, and enter the resolution in the record.

The hearing will be held in Room 911 of the CAB headquarters in the Universal Building at Washington. A representative of the engineering firm which drew the master plan for the proposed Outagamie County airport in the Town of Greenville will also attend.

At the conclusion of the two-week hearings at Wausau earlier in the month, Stodola asked Outagamie and Winnebago County representatives to outline their views on a joint airport. He had requested the reports from the counties by Thursday of this week.

Winnebago County has asked

Stodola to give it more time to outline its position on a regional airport to permit a survey being made at the Oshkosh airport to be completed.

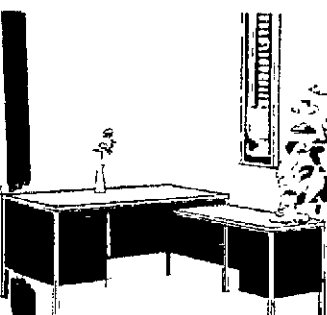

Stodola has indicated that the feasibility of a joint airport for Outagamie and Winnebago Counties will be studied at the CAB Washington hearing.

'Take the Initiative'
In concluding the hearings at Wausau he stated: "I would prefer that the county boards of Outagamie and Winnebago would take the initiative."

"It is an Outagamie and Winnebago County problem and should be solved at the local level with the aid of the state and FAA engineers. If they fail to do so the examiner and the CAB will rely on the expert advice of the FAA in Washington."

At its meeting this week, the Outagamie County Airport Committee indicated its willingness in arriving at a satisfactory solution to the regional airport problem.

"We will inform Mr. Stodola that we will be glad to sit down with Winnebago County officials and try to solve this problem," Ponath said today.

The Test Ban Treaty

The nuclear test ban agreement reached by representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain but still to be ratified according to the laws of each nation, is bound to be hailed as a great step forward if only because it would reduce fall-out danger if it is maintained.

But there are several major drawbacks to the treaty from the American point of view. In the first place, of course, we can be assured that the Soviet Union will keep the agreement only as long as it feels that it is in its national interest to do so. Its arrogant violation of the nuclear testing moratorium several years ago and the dozens of treaties and agreements that it has cast aside once the value was gone are proof enough that we cannot rely upon this treaty to eradicate the dangers of future tests.

Secondly, the agreement does not prohibit underground testing which would require a certain amount of on the site inspection to make it foolproof. Presumably President Kennedy and his advisors have thoroughly explored the status of our nuclear development and that of the Soviet Union. But there have been statements by atomic theorists that Russia will benefit much more in the future from the underground tests which are permitted than we will. And of course this agreement in no way hinders France, Red China or any other nation from atmospheric testing nor is it likely to. World public opinion bothers Mao Tse-tung and De Gaulle not a whit.

Furthermore, since the proposed treaty must be approved by two-thirds of the United States Senate we may have handed the Russians a propaganda victory no matter how the vote comes out. The treaty will not be debated in Russia, but sound American opposition will be picked up around the world as further indication that the United States is the nation intent upon forcing a nuclear war upon everyone. In great respect this will offset the poor public relations the Russians gained after their violation of the last test ban agreement.

The proposed treaty does specify that any signatory shall have the right to abrogate it "if it decides that extraordinary events, related to the subject matter of this treaty, have jeopardized the supreme interests of its country. It shall give notice of such withdrawal to all other parties to the treaty three months in advance." But such a cooling off period will affect only the United States and England of course. Russia will no more abide by that clause than by any other if it so desires.

There is one big reason, however, why it is to the advantage of the United States to ratify the agreement if military experts agree we would suffer no major handicap in our nuclear development. The politics being played here are not only to give President Kennedy some sort of a feather to wave in next year's election campaign. Premier Khrushchev very likely needs the treaty to maintain his own position of leadership. Certainly there are active elements within Russia who would rather follow Red China's tougher line. And Khrushchev, having alienated the Chinese, needs to point elsewhere for his triumphs. The test ban agreement would serve his purpose.

It may seem fantastic that the United States should attempt to keep Khrushchev in a position of power. But whatever sort of a boor he is, he does not appear to be as dangerous or as impulsive or as fanatical as some other Communists. Admittedly he is now using the carrot lure and the rosy glow will not last. But it may be very much in our national interest to keep Mr. K in power in Moscow — if not in Washington.

When French novelist Albert Camus received the Nobel Peace Prize for literature in 1957 he commented that "probably every generation sees itself as charged with remaking the world. Mine, however, knows that it will not remake the world. But its task is perhaps even greater, for it consists in keeping the world from destroying itself."

The proposed nuclear test ban may not keep the world from destroying itself. But the United States Senate should consider the variety of matters involved in this agreement, including exactly how much we are risking and for what. International politics in the years ahead are going to be no easier to figure than they have been in the past.

Taxes and Swimming Pools

As these columns have often mentioned, the real state financial problem still lies ahead, and that is how to provide in future years for the ever-increasing costs of the ever-increasing public services that Wisconsin citizens seem to demand. Or are they being nudged?

An example of an expense which we question are the swimming pools being constructed in various junior and senior high schools in the state. Proposals for building indoor or combination indoor-outdoor pools come up frequently when new junior and senior high schools are being planned.

Such proposals were turned down in Appleton for Madison Junior and the new Einstein Junior High. A pool for the new Kimberly high school was rejected in a referendum. But Chilton is including a pool in its new high school project and Menasha High has had one since 1937. The little community of Valders has approved the building of a $700,000 pool.

It well could be that a school swimming pool can provide better physical exercise and development for more children than the equally expensive gymnasiums which sometimes are used more for varsity basketball than for the benefit of all the students. But no one has suggested that a swimming pool replace a gymnasium; it is merely to accompany one.

Swimming is an excellent exercise and in this part of the country every child ought to learn. But there are community pools open in the summer with fine instructional and recreational programs. There are indoor pools in this area with such programs all the year around at a low cost. Just how far can we expect our taxes to go in providing a myriad of services that are available or could be made available elsewhere? In Wisconsin where the state aids for education, only fifteen years old, are now being questioned because of the constantly rising costs of everything, it is hard to explain that a swimming pool is an essential part of the educational picture.

Ironically the State Department of Public Instruction, in encouraging the consideration of swimming pools, points to President Kennedy's emphasis upon physical fitness. But the authorities have not read far enough. They should start talking up fifty mile hikes for school children — or even a brisk run around the block — which would cost very little and require no expensive equipment at all.

The Force of Nature Is Still Terrible

There have been some heart-warming aftermaths to the tragic earthquakes in the ancient Macedonian capital of Skopje, Yugoslavia, but we are left with the feeling that we are just as vulnerable to the terrible forces of nature today as people were in ancient times.

The rescue of a Belgian couple alive after being buried 55 hours in the basement of a hotel, and of a Yugoslav girl entombed for 80 hours, brought new realizations of the struggle the human body will make for survival. Significant to Americans were the cheers an American Army hospital unit received from Yugoslavs as the convoy speeded to the stricken city.

Marshal Tito has announced that the damaged buildings will be leveled and a new city for the 270,000 population will be built from the ground up on a new and safer site.

But regardless of the renewed hope people of Skopje now have for the future, the horrible power of the earth tremors which destroyed their homes will remain a nightmare in their memories for years to come.

Looking Backward

Last Call for War Volunteers

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 13, 1863.

As will be observed, Gov. Salomon has been granted 30 days to endeavor to fill our State quota by volunteering.

In other words, the draft will come at the end of 30 days unless the requisite number of men are raised by volunteering. The time is very brief, but if the right kind of effort is put forward, much can be accomplished in that time.

No government ever offered as high wages or as large bounties as the U. S. is now paying. Just think of it: $402 bounty and $13 per month wages!

This is positively the last call! Let a united encouragement be given to fill up the ranks and thereby prevent the hardships of the draft.

The New London Legion Juniors won the Class A regional baseball championship and a berth in the state tournament at Waukesha. Team members under Coach E. M. "Mac" Donner included Louis Bellile, Weidon Hertz, Gilman Hertz, Junior Prah, Harold Berman, Vern Wilson, Leland Dobberstein, Dave Stern, Dean Jeffers, Kenneth Poppy, Gerard Flanagan, Keith Gehrke, Mark Fitzgerald and Kenneth Prentice. Hertz and Prentice were from Weyauwega.

Two Fox Cities youths accepted for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis were Thomas Milhaupt, Appleton, and Robert Knox, Kaukauna.

Mrs. W. C. Sommerfeld was general chairman of the ice cream social to be sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of St. Matthew Lutheran Church. Working with Mrs. Sommerfeld were Mrs. Oscar Radtke, Mrs. Hector Vander Louis, Mrs. William Baehman, Mrs. George Abendroth, Mrs. Roland Wuerger and Mrs. Fred Jentz.

Joe Kohler, Appleton, runner-up the previous year in the state caddie golf tournament at Brown Deer course in Milwaukee, was to try again with several other entries from the Fox Cities area.

Entered in the tournament besides Kohler were Sylvester Zelinske, Danny Tuchscherer and John Deelee, all from Neenah Ridgeway; Appleton caddies Hank Becker, John Fournier and Elmer Abel, and others from Neenah - Menasha, George Goeser, Alvin Britz, John Maciejewski, Alvin Krause, Edward Bogarske and Joseph Fieweger.

The joint military armistice commission set in motion that day the machinery for enforcing the day-old Korean armistice. The allied and communist armistice teams agreed to start exchanging 87,000 prisoners of war Aug. 5. The Reds agreed to free about 400 men daily at Panmunjon and the U. N. command said it would deliver about 2,760 daily, including 360 sick and wounded.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles declared that the United States will not buy Korean unity at the price of Red Chinese membership in the United Nations. Dulles was to fly to Korea that weekend to confer with South Korean President Syngman Rhee on the negotiation of a common security pact.

C. V. Peterson, Scandinavia, collected 180 points out of a possible 200 to win the adult judging contest at the annual Holstein breeders' twilight contest near Marion. Peterson's son, Donald, tied with David Holtebeck, Scandinavia, for second place with 170 points.

Miss Catherine Spence, home arts instructor at Appleton High School, was to attend the eighth International Congress on Home Economics in Edinburgh, Scotland, in August.

Mrs. Merton Schulz and Mrs. Roland Kuehl were co-chairmen of activities for the 19th annual convention of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Wisconsin Paid Firemen's Association to be held in Appleton. Other committee members included Mrs. Conrad Plach, Mrs. Carlton Beschta, Mrs. Francis Schuldes, Mrs. Emmery Graunke, Mrs. Duane Arts, Mrs. Donald Dexter, Mrs. Harold Kramer, Mrs. John Grootemont and Mrs. Charles Sample.

People's Forum

Werner, Steiger, Renk All Have Abilities for State Leadership

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Last January when our governor said, "There will be no compromise," he simply assumed the responsibility of directing our government affairs himself, and to his liking. We all know that the success of any large executive depends largely on his ability to delegate work and responsibility to his co-workers. So it appears, at the present writing, that he is overloaded and stuck, as a result we have the disgraceful, costly, confused situation in our state house.

In view of this situation it is only reasonable to believe that we will have a number of replacements in the personnel of our state government when it comes election next year, and now is the time we should be thinking about those replacements.

At present there are three men in the public eye that could well be given consideration for the top offices. These men are Matt Werner of Sheboygan, formerly of New London, Carl Steiger from Oshkosh and Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie. The only way we can judge the future is by the past and the only way we can judge a man is by his past. So judging these three men by their past, we see they are all born in Wisconsin, educated in Wisconsin schools, college graduates. They have been successful in business. All have served the state as president of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin. None of them are politicians, with political strings tied to them or political debts to pay.

Matt Werner grew up in New London, after graduation from high school he served the people of the city as postal clerk before going to college, a time when he gained the respect of the city people and those in the surrounding territory. Surely at Sheboygan he must have gained the respect of the people of the city and state or he would not have been appointed as a member of the Board of Regents when he, a Democrat, was first appointed by a Republican governor about twenty years ago.

Carl Steiger not only served the state as president of the Board of Regents but the city of Oshkosh as president of the Delta Rug Co. and the city of Neenah as Director of the Bergstrom Paper Co. and the City of Clintonville as director of the F.W.D. that I know of, and aside from his big business experience he has owned and operated a farm in Winnebago County. So he has an understanding of farm problems as well. I worked in Winnebago County for eight years and was in a position to know that there are few if any people in the county that the people have more respect for than for Carl Steiger. Like Matt Werner he is the kind of a man we all would be proud to have represent us in Washington.

Last but not least, Wilbur Renk could be considered for governor. Aside from serving the state as president of the Board of Regents, if the truth was known he has served Wisconsin agriculture, at the age of 50, more than anyone in the state living or dead. Now that we have figures compiled by the U. W. to show that in the last 20 years our state has slipped in rank in agriculture in every branch except cattle, canning crops and turkeys, it might be well to think of a farmer for governor once in 75 years instead of a lawyer, druggist or plumber. As for the respect and confidence of the people of the state, I surely would not attempt to add or detract as the voters of the state told the story last year better than we can. Outside of Milwaukee County, as they would say in England, the voters of the state gave him the vote of confidence. And to prove his ability as a leader, let's not forget that he led his campaign himself, without the support of his own party and the opposition of the Democratic Party, the Socialist Party, many labor leaders and the Kennedy family.

As much as these three men have served the people of the state and been in public eye not once have they been thought of going under oath to render a service and then doing the opposite or in any way misusing public money. In mentioning the names of these three men I have no personal compensation in mind whatever. I do it simply as free public service and would appreciate other public-spirited people doing the same.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Atlas and Titan intercontinental range missiles test-fired here often double as space laboratories.

Attached to the side of the rockets are special cylinders carrying scientific experiments to study such things as space radiation, micrometeorites, the earth's magnetic field, re-entry shock and effect of weightlessness on new fuels.

Victory by Beer Lobby In Tax Maneuvering Could Prove Expensive

MADISON — Sometimes a victory in politics, as in warfare, becomes too expensive.

It may be that the beer interest of Wisconsin may have some second thoughts about its victorious resistance to a modest additional tax of one dollar per barrel on its product in the first of the so-called "compromise" tax bills a fortnight ago.

For one of the hazards in the second, and probably last compromise attempt, is the fact that the negotiating committee literally scrapped the tax base to add up some 22 sources of money to balance the state budget, but with elaborate silence avoided any further proposal to become involved in a futile wrestling match with the beer industry.

This reporter's mail and other communications suggest that the victory of the beer interest, alone of all the lobbies involved in the tax fight, was widely observed by the taxpayer in the ranks.

There is a quality of resentment that ultimately will tell in hostile reactions to the industry which spends a good deal of its money on the improvement of public relations.

THE SITUATION

Gov. Reynolds originally asked for a raise in the beer tax. Most of the legislative conference committee members with whom he negotiated the current compromise agreement voted for the beer tax earlier.

But nobody proposed to include it in the second compromise agreement, for a very good reason. The assembly roll call on an earlier test showed that there was no chance whatever that such a tax could be approved, and that if the attempt were made, the whole laboriously contrived compromise might go down the drain.

Yet to anybody in Sturgeon Bay or Pardeeville or Neenah looking on it must seem a strange thing that the same men can seriously propose a hefty tax on soda pop, while acknowledging by indirection the immaturity of beer. There must be something incongruous in resorting to the diversion of income tax shares promised to localities by solemn statute, in raiding the reserves of the state insurance fund, in taxing the electricity used by everybody in his home, and in a couple of dozen of other reluctantly offered revenue measures, but yet exempting a small additional tax on a luxury that can be avoided by anyone who doesn't like the idea.

The beer industry reacted as would any other when the idea of a heavier tax for governmental financing was broached. It resisted. Virtually every other industry that was singled out resisted. (The soda pop bottlers are hopping mad, but they won't have much chance to make their feelings known. The clock will work against them.)

The difference was that the beer people won their case. Nearly everybody else has lost it, or is about to lose it — assuming that this clumsy compromise effort becomes law, as it probably must.

There is probably some prestige attached to the representatives of the beer trades — from the union worker in the brewery to the wholesaler's delivery man on the beat to the tavern-keeper down the street — in this altogether singular triumph in the most difficult financing situation the capitol has ever faced.

Yet it may be wondered whether it does honor to the political process, whether it does not impugn the reputation of the legislature, and whether these men really wanted such notoriety.

It may be that people are noticing also that other beer issues opposed by the industry are comfortably bottled up in committee. Did the industry win more than it could afford, when it demonstrated that it is the most powerful influence now at work in Madison?

Harris Eagerly Awaits Eiseley Autobiography

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Autobiography is the easiest literary form in which to write, and the hardest in which to write well. Some of the most skilled and profound authors have written the worst autobiographies.

It interested me, therefore, to receive a note this week announcing the publication next winter of Loren Eiseley's autobiography, "Acquainted With the Night." I have long been an admirer of his writing, his thinking, and his special blend of science and humanities.

If you are looking for summer reading that is both substantial and charming (in the deeper sense of the word), let me recommend any of Dr. Eiseley's books, and especially "The Immense Journey," and "The Firmament of Time."

We live in a literary age of specialists on the one hand, and popularizers on the other. The specialists write in a dehumanized jargon, and tend to think in rigid categories. The popularizers, on the other hand, tend to be too vivid in their writing and too sloppy in their thinking. Few men in our times are able to bridge the gap between precise knowledge and graceful expression.

C. P. Snow has made us aware of the chasm between what he calls the "two cultures" — the world of science and the world of the humanities. Whether his ultimate analysis is right or wrong, the fact remains that there is little communication between these two worlds: the scientist too often knows little about history and philosophy, and the humanist is either ignorant of, or actively hostile toward, scientific truths.

As an anthropologist and a professor of the history of science, Dr. Eiseley is admirably equipped to span this chasm. He offers us a world-view (what the Germans so untranslatably call a Weltanschauung) that is humane and flexible, neither blindly committed to tradition nor wildly infatuated with present and future achievements.

This double strain of "the visible and the invisible" parts of man runs through all his books; not only the two I have mentioned, but also "Darwin's Century," "Francis Bacon and the Modern Dilemma," and "The Mind of Nature." There are passages or beliefs we might quarrel with; but there are none that do not stimulate us to further thought, that do not open doors and windows we have too long locked.

Whether or not his autobiography fulfills the promise of his earlier work — and I strongly suspect that it will — contemporary America is heavily in his debt already; and the best way we can repay it is by preferring him over the specialists and the popularizers alike.

Stamp Window On Its Way Out

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The bronze-barred post office stamp window is going the way of the four-cent stamp.

There are now just four stamp windows left in Richmond, and all are in the main post office. A postal spokesman estimates the post office can save $10,000 a year by changing to "multipurpose counters."

But long-time postal workers still eye the old stamp windows nostalgically.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Nuclear test ban postscript: We didn't exactly ban the bomb, but we managed to nick the nukes.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day leaves the Cabinet. JFK assigned him his new ZIP code — 1-2-3 out.

Racial compromise: The whites will let the Negroes win the public accommodations battle, if the Negroes will let a white man win the next heavyweight championship fight.

Business glossary: Company pension plan — a sporting wager by the company that you'll never make 65.

It seems the atomic test ban treaty was initiated only. It's getting an people won't sign their names to anything.

Teachers Attend National Institute

Two men from Seymour and Brillion are among five high school teachers from Wisconsin attending the national Soil Science Institute on the University of Wisconsin campus. The conference, which began July 22, will run through Aug. 16.

Oliver Lerum, Seymour, and David Wotke, Brillion, are at the conference jointly sponsored by the University of Wisconsin and the National Science Foundation, which began July 22, will run through Aug. 16.

Others from Wisconsin are Stanley Baik, DeSoto; Charles Larson, Cuba City; and Richard Walker, Coleman.

The purpose of the institute is to strengthen the mastery of soil sciences for the secondary school teachers from throughout the United States attending the meetings, according to George Sledge, assistant dean, College of Agriculture and director of the program.

Basic course information in the fields of soil chemistry and plant nutrition are given in addition to soil genesis, classification and geography, according to Sledge.

Leader Not Too Interested

Who Will Lead France After De Gaulle Falls?

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle, in front of a splendid red silk curtain, talked to a news conference 80 minutes Monday and brushed off as if it were stupid one of the most important questions.

He was asked his ideas about a successor.
De Gaulle, 72, has another three years to go as president. When he took power five years ago, France, in political chaos since World War II, was teetering toward civil war. Politics were a nightmare.

After five years, he has failed to achieve lasting political reform or to provide for what comes after him. He once said: "After me, a mess."
Thus, while his whole career has been dedicated to the restoration of French grandeur and influence, he has done little to make sure France after him will have the stability necessary to endure.

For this reason, he gives the impression of a mystic trying to play a celestial slot machine. For years he has pulled the lever, seeking the right combination to fit his dreams: a new Europe under French leadership, a firm new relationship with Germany, perhaps a new relationship with the Soviet Union and an undeniable place for himself in history. It has eluded him.

Matter of Time
But he acts and talks, as he did Monday, as if it were only a matter of time when somehow, perhaps because it's De Gaulle wishing it so, he will give the lever a magic pull and hear that tinkling, tumbling sound that means a jackpot.
Three years ago in Washington, he said little to Congress and newsmen, he made easing relations with the Soviet Union "paramount."

That was just three weeks before Premier Khrushchev broke off the summit conference in Paris with De Gaulle, President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

But last week Khrushchev finally agreed with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. De Gaulle wanted no part of it. He said the world situation hasn't changed "one whit." He said France would not join.

Khrushchev last week talked of an East-West nonaggression pact. Maybe it's a pipe dream. But De Gaulle made it impossible by saying France wanted no part of that, either.

Treasures Alliance
He said France treasures the Western Alliance nations. But he's unhappy with NATO, the military organization which gives the alliance meaning.
He said France will go on making nuclear weapons, unless the United States and the Soviet Union destroy theirs. This is so far in the future it's invisible. So France has a good excuse, by De Gaulle's reasoning, to go on making weapons.

On June 25 President Kennedy pledged in Germany — certainly for the benefit of France — to risk the destruction of American cities in defense of Western Europe.

Two days later De Gaulle told what he thought of this through his information minister, Alain Peyrefitte, who warned Europe against trusting its security completely and indefinitely to the United States.

He said no one knows what Washington's policy will be 10 years from now, after Kennedy's presidency, and mentioned that American neutrality in 1914 and 1939 do not inspire confidence now.

By this same reasoning of De Gaulle it would be impossible for the United States to trust France as an ally for in 10 years De Gaulle also probably will be gone and even he doesn't know what kind of France there will be then.

State Budget-Tax Bill Passed by Assembly

election," Alfonsi said. "I hope that as a result of this the Wisconsin voters in November of 1964 will decide to send a Democratic Legislature and a Democratic governor or a Republican Legislature and Republican governor down here."

In setting state spending for the biennium which began July 1 at $626.4 million, the bill compares with a $512 million budget for the 1961-63 biennium.

Income tax increases and new sales and excise taxes are the major ingredients of the bill's revenue section.

A three-tenths of one per cent increase in income tax rates would net $44.5 million and new sales and excise taxes would bring in $59.7 more.

By making the income tax increase effective as of Jan. 1 this year, the state will collect 29 months' taxes in the biennium. New sales and excise taxes will become effective Aug. 15.

To bring the measure within $3.4 million of striking a balance between income and spending, the bill draws on two sources of outside normal revenue channels.

A total of $3.5 million is taken from reserves of the state insurance fund. Another $7.2 million of satisfaction about the program of would be diverted from income which he was part author. He felt and utility taxes before they are so relieved, in fact, that he plan-divided among local govern-ments. The bill also picks up a wind fall of $20 million by putting votes for it than there were Democratic supporters, but in the Assembly the ratio of available Democratic votes was higher than the Republican margin.

Gov. Reynolds earlier this year had said with the utmost firmness that he would never consent to some of the provisions of the bill — such as the extensions of sales taxes. But as the last roll call was recorded Monday night he was smiling with a fund. Another $7.2 million of satisfaction about the program of would be diverted from income which he was part author. He felt and utility taxes before they are so relieved, in fact, that he plan-divided among local govern-ments. The bill also picks up a wind fall of $20 million by putting

"Joyful Solution"

Nobody quite got around to admitting that the joyfully hailed "solution" to the state's financial crisis may turn out to be short of that. A sizeable deficit is acknowledged and must be made up later in the year, or by the following Legislature. Negotiators of the financial peace pact banked on the assumption that the school aids formula can be revised for the second year of the budget term, to save a large sum of money for the state treasury. That is a hope, however, rather than a plan.

Running through the deliberations of the last two weeks also was a visible resentment among legislators of both parties about the size of the spending program.

Many rank and file members felt there was something incongruous about a generous program of disbursements, such as liberal pay raises for virtually all state employees, at a time of such desperate tax-searching.

Most of them felt frustrated about a solution, however, and found an only outlet in voting against the entire budget and tax package.

Children Join In New York Race Protests

NEW YORK (AP) — Antidiscrimination demonstrators sent children into their peaceful fight today for more jobs for Negroes in construction trades.

Willie Brinson, 35, a Negro barber of Brooklyn, led a group of 10 youngsters into the entrance of a Brooklyn hospital site where they sat down and refused to move. Five were his own children and the others were related to him.

The youngsters, aged 2 to 13, broke into delighted grins when policemen carefully lifted them from the ground and put them in unmarked patrol cars. Police President stressed, at a White House meeting with congressional leaders, the need for getting the bill to the House floor for debate and enactment at the earliest possible date.

McCormack said he was hopeful the House Ways and Means Committee would send the bill to the floor.

Eight persons, including Brinson, were arrested in Brooklyn and one at a similar protest at a housing project in Queens.

Shortly after the demonstrators got the impression the government would release ex-President A. J. F. Kennedy from prison soon, Frondizi was imprisoned last March after Guindo took over the government under military dicta-torship.

Minding Your Business

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

WITH MONEY, AND YOUR KEY TO FORT KNOX, START A MAGAZINE

DEAR CY: What would you tell a young man interested in learning some facts about launching a new magazine?

NEW PUBLISHER: Launching a magazine is costly, risky business. It takes money... and a gold-plated key to Fort Knox. If, for instance, you decided to courageously compete with "Business Week," $500,000 would get you about as far as four issues. As magazines are directed to more specialized audiences, and publishing vacuums (there are still some around), the capital requirements diminish.

Figure this: There are 8,000 magazines being published in the U.S.A. today. In 1918 there were 50 copies of magazines sold for every 100 adults. Now it's 156!

Magazines encompass the following fields: general interest, entertainment, women's services, news, shelter, fashion, youth, sports, science, mechanics, farm, and business. Then there are the highly selective magazines going to such buffs as stamp collectors, scuba divers, archers, knitters and skeet shooters. And... don't overlook trade publications, such as "Aviation Week," and "Coal Age."

Practically every magazine must secure the patronage of advertisers and readers. If you plan on launching a magazine like "National Geographic," "Harper's," or "Atlantic" keep in mind that such magazines fascinate readers, but not advertisers. Last year the 12 and a half billion dollar U.S. advertising cake crumbled in such a way 13 per cent went to magazines. TV took 14 per cent and newspapers (as usual) romped off with the lion's share of 31 per cent.

DEAR CY: In trying to find a money-making deal and be my own boss, I found a giant vending machine which sells grocery items. When conventional food stores close, these machines keep right on working. The entire unit measures 15 by 10 by 10 feet, and is said to produce $9,000 annual net income. I haven't seen the pilot operation, but the picture of it looked terrific. Do you know anything about these giant automatic venders?

DEAR BOSS-TO-BE: Acting as detective for a reader, on a similar situation, I discovered some unusual facts. The prototype food vending unit, though constructed, had never been in public operation. Juicy net profit figures were based on contemplated operation, and no factual evidence existed regarding actual results. Despite repeated entreaties by the Better Business Bureau for information on live performance, the promoter refused to respond. Like the Tucker automobile, robot grocery venders will cause a lot of innocent people to dump cigar boxes full of cash on the counter and say, "I want in." On guard!

Asks Action of Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy called again today for congressional action on the administration's tax cut bill.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters the White House President stressed, at a White House meeting with congressional leaders, the need for getting the bill to the House floor for debate and enactment at the earliest possible date.

McCormack said he was hopeful the House Ways and Means Committee would send the bill to the floor.

Groom Killed 4 Hours Before His Wedding

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Four hours before they were to be married on Monday a Birmingham, Mich., man was killed and his bride-to-be injured in an auto accident.

Killed was Raymond Zehnberg, 21. His fiancée, Betty Meggs, 23, of nearby Pontiac, was reported in fair condition.

Police said Zehnberg's car swerved to avoid hitting a car making a U-turn, went out of control and struck a tree.

Rain Falls Again on July 29 in Hamlet

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Nothing unusual happened Monday in Waynesburg—it rained just as everyone knew it would.

What was considered "a good shower" fell with more than half the day gone. Sprinkles followed. It marked the 77th time in 87 years that rain has fallen in this Pennsylvania town on July 29.

Nikita Given Pipe By Orville Freeman

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev received an Indian pipe of peace today from U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Khrushchev said he didn't smoke but accepted it as a symbol.

Freeman, winding up a three-week tour of Soviet agricultural areas, presented the two-foot pipe in a conference room next to the premier's Kremlin office.

Bi-Partisan Support for Treaty Seen a conference of leaders of both parties before President Kennedy's Friday night television-radio speech on the treaty, which would ban all except underground tests.

Sen. Burke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee and Senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview he could not accept an invitation to go to Moscow for the signing ceremony, expected to be held next week.

"I think it would be highly improper for me to go in view of the fact that I have not decided whether I will support or oppose this treaty," he said. "I intend to listen to all the evidence on both sides before coming to a conclusion."

GOP policy committee members arranged to discuss the treaty but there was no indication that they would take a stand on it.

Dirksen said he had made no effort to poll Republican senators and had no idea how they would vote on the agreement worked out by U.S., British and Soviet representatives. Treaty backers are wooing GOP support because ratification would require approval of two-thirds of those voting.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a foreign relations committeeman who is backing the treaty, predicted a 2-1 GOP margin for it in the vote on ratification.

He said, however, he hopes the administration does not take a delegation of Democrats senators to Moscow.

"If such a delegation went it would look partisan and it would leave the impression most Republicans are against ratification," he said.

Mexican Police Free Hostages of Gunmen

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP) — Police freed on Monday 55 workers who had been held prisoners in a textile factory by 15 gunmen for five days.

The officers crept into the factory and took control without firing a shot.

The gunmen had taken the workers prisoners in an effort to force them to switch unions.

Police acted after several days of constant guard on the factory.

to this case is to be found in collective bargaining—collective bargaining which has had a shot in the arm."

He said Congress can provide that booster shot.

He added both sides should bargain with the knowledge that "the heavy hand of congressional power is ready to punish a party failing to meet his public and private responsibilities during negotiations."

Senator Encouraged: Senators working for a settlement say they are encouraged by a union official's announcement that the brotherhoods have submitted a new proposal.

L. J. Wagner, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, told the Senate Commerce Committee the new offer was made Saturday in the reopened bargaining session.

He said no reply had come from the carriers and said he didn't believe they had had time to present one.

However, Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, was at the hearing and when asked by a reporter about Wagner's statement, he said: "I have heard about nothing new that amounts to anything."

The railroads and unions resumed Labor Department bargaining sessions Friday under prodding from legislators who expressed fears that Congress might set a dangerous pattern by stepping into the dispute.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., the Commerce Committee's acting chairman, has said he doesn't think the two sides are too far apart to reach an agreement through bargaining.

However, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has cautioned he sees no chance of a settlement except through legislation.

To give Congress a chance to act, the railroads have postponed rules which will eliminate thousands of jobs and which the unions have said will trigger a nationwide strike.

Representatives of the five operating unions continued their testimony Monday in opposition to President Kennedy's recommendations for averting a strike by turning the dispute over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Senate Commerce Committee stayed in session until almost 10 p.m. to hear the last union spokesman—Neil P. Speirs, president of the switchmen.

Wall Between Church, State One-Sided

Religious Groups Lobbying for End To Racial Bias

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's supposed to be a "wall of separation between church and state" erected under the constitution. At least so the Supreme Court of the United States has said. But something happened in Washington last Thursday which indicates that the wall apparently bars entry from only one side.

For while the government cannot direct what prayers, if any, shall be used in the public schools or institutions, the government presumably can be directed by the churches as to what laws shall be passed on any subject. Whether it is in the field of "conscience" or "commerce," the principal religious organizations of the nation now assert the right to interpret these words for themselves and to take part in the pressures being exerted in the lobbies of the Capitol to secure the enactment of certain laws barring racial discrimination.

Spokesmen for the three big national organizations of churches—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—have just told Congress that all forms of racial discrimination should be abolished by law.

Three committees of Congress heard the arguments presented by the churchmen dealing with proposed legislation on "civil rights" in respect to retail stores, restaurants, hotels, and motels as well as discrimination in employment in various businesses, whether government or private.

Historical Event
In what was described by the church sponsors as "an unprecedented and indeed historic event," a formal statement containing identical words was read before each of three Congressional committees. A Catholic clergyman, representing the National Catholic Welfare Conference appeared before a Senate committee and said he spoke for his own and the two other church groups—the National Council of Churches and the Synagogue Council of America. The same declaration was read before another Senate committee the same day by a Jewish Rabbi, who, too, testified that he spoke for all three organizations. A Protestant clergyman likewise presented the same statement before a house committee in behalf of the three church groups.

The declaration said in part: "The religious conscience of America condemns racism as blasphemy against God. . . . "Major religious bodies hold simply that God created all men regardless of color, race or national origin, with equal rights and dignity. They affirm that differences among individuals stemming from such factors as heredity, education, cultural background and opportunities do not in any way affect basic human rights. Thus they have specifically condemned racial discrimination, segregation and prejudice as incompatible with the principles of faith in God."

But what church, if any, is to determine authoritatively for Congress what are the "principles of faith in God?" Although the three major church groups can send clergymen to the committees of Congress to tell them, in effect, that unless they pass certain laws, they will be violating the "principles of faith in God," two atheists from Maryland recently persuaded the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that children in the public schools should not be allowed to pray or to express even in the vaguest terms their support for the "principles of faith in God." Spokesmen for various Christian and Jewish church groups welcomed the ruling.

So there appears to be a one-sided wall of separation between church and state. These controversies have not been confined to religious questions. Thus the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference appeared in a public statement in 1947 to President Truman to veto the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress. He did so, but it became a law anyhow as both houses overrode the veto. This correspondent at the time called attention to attempts by this and other church groups to tell the government what laws should be enacted whether or not they touched religion. For nearly every subject can be rationalized as in some way related to "morals" or "conscience."

Number of Dissenters
There has been as yet no referendum taken among the members of these churches throughout the country—approximately 116,000,000 according to the 1961 figures—to determine how a majority feel about the asserted right of the church organizations to speak for them on matters of legislation. Will some individuals risk "excommunication" if they take a dissenting view?

The campaign of some of the church organizations goes beyond mere statements to congressional committees. A commission of the National Council of Churches, a leading Protestant organization, has just issued a public appeal for 40,000 members to take part in person in the "March of Washington" on August 28. Many ministers, while and Negro, have already participated in the "demonstrations, in different parts of the country, and some have been arrested for disturbing the peace.

But the real significance of all the new developments is that there may be a movement started to permit intermarriage. What people in the south have always feared is that enforced social relationships between Negroes and white bringing about intermarriage on a wide scale in America. This, to be sure, is at the root of the problem of the integrated school and is responsible for much of the opposition to mixing of races or social relationships in eating places, hotels and housing facilities. The expressed position of the churches today on racial discrimination could lead logically to a legal sanction of intermarriage or at least a declaration that for a state to forbid it is "a blasphemy against God."

Birth Control Bills Can Have Side Effects

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor gave me a prescription for birth control pills and directions to take one tablet daily, from the fifth through the 24th day of the cycle. Which I did.

For several days after the last pill I began to "spot," but no real bleeding. Is this normal? Should I continue taking the pills? I was also quite sick the first week, just like "morning sickness." — MRS. A. D.

Birth control medication has had several years of testing and is currently being taken by a large number of women. Results have been highly dependable when the pills have been used according to instructions. While doctors never stop looking for more information about any medicine, no matter how long it has been in use, I know of no danger with the pills.

Not Unusual
The directions you received are correct. The spotting is called "withdrawal bleeding," and is sometimes seen in normal cases. It is frequent enough so I think women should be warned in advance that it may occur.

Your "morning sickness" is not too unusual, either. Some women tolerate the drug very easily; some have to give it up because of too much nausea.

Thus whether you continue to take the pills rests with you and your doctor, but you have no cause for alarm in these symptoms.

Pinnworm Eggs
Dear Dr. Molner: Can heat from a clothes dryer destroy pinnworm eggs? I understand that washing clothes will not destroy the eggs. Would a disinfectant or bleach help? I enclose 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "Pinworm — The Commonest Pest." — Mrs. V.T. Commonest Pest.

Yes, a dryer will kill the eggs. So will washing and the heat of ironing. Clothing, as you'll note in the booklet, isn't the only means of transmitting the eggs.

Toughening Skin
Dear Dr. Molner: I'm sure other university students have my problem. At the end of the school year my hands are soft, but I spend the summer doing manual labor.

Is it possible to prevent blisters by toughening the skin? Would soaking my hands in salt solution help? And when I get the blisters, what is the best way to treat them? — J.C.

There is no practical method of toughening the hands except by using them. You want to thicken the skin — create some callus. Benzoin might help a little but not enough to amount to much without the more important factor of friction and pressure.

I have two suggestions. First, when spring comes start using your hands, whether at swinging a tennis racket or baseball bat. Or chopping wood, or taking a shovel and digging a hole two feet deep, after which you fill it up and start another dig. Anything to accustom your hands to work.

My second suggestion: If that isn't enough, then wear cotton work gloves when you first begin manual labor. They will let your hands toughen more gradually.

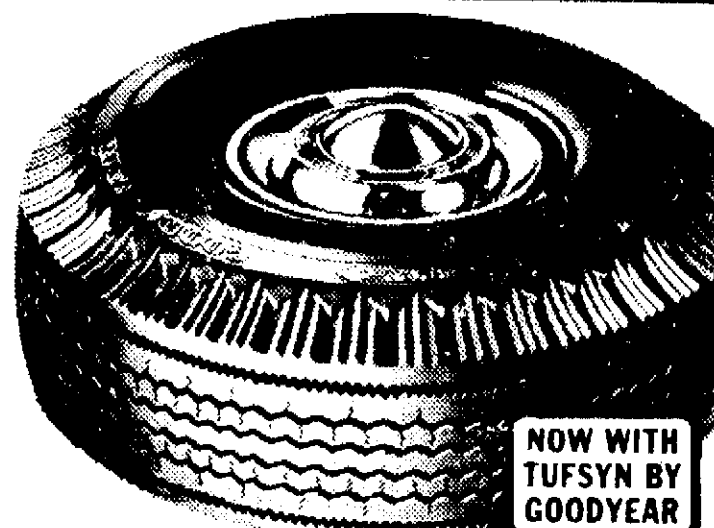

Treatment of blisters: Keep them covered with miniature bandages and let them break and drain normally if possible. Pricking blisters with a needle can introduce infectious germs at times.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible. (Copyright 1963)

Add Horns or Tusks to Piggy Bank; Use Straws for Them

BY CAPPY DICK

A piggy bank can be turned into a rhinoceros bank or a wild boar bank by adding a pair of horns or tusks made from soda straws. Figures 2 and 3 show what can be accomplished.

To make a pair of rhino horns, cut two pieces of soda straw, one longer than the other as in Figure 1. The length of the horns will depend upon the size of the ceros or a wild boar, the fact remains that your docile piggy, by the addition of horns or tusks, has become a ferocious wild creature that will guard your money night and day.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

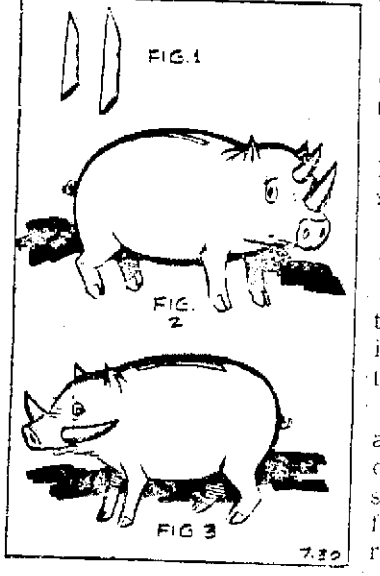

Words Often Misused: Exceed means going beyond a boundary or limit, while excel refers to better quality. Thus: "They have exceeded their quota in the sales of bonds," and, "They excel in the ability to sell bonds."

Often Mispronounced: Acerbity. Pronounce ah-sehr-bi-ty, accent second syllable.

Often Misspelled: Monsieur (singular), Messieurs (plural).

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Air Force Planes Snare Capsules Falling to Earth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says its recovery planes are perfecting the technique of snaring space capsules out of the air as they parachute back from orbit.

In revealing this the Air Force said recovery flights by the 6583rd Test Squadron, based at Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, have been so successful in two years of operations that they are now considered almost routine.

The disclosure came in an announcement that the Air Force has given the test squadron the outstanding unit award for its work in recovering capsules from its little-publicized series of satellite launchings.

The Air Force has been launching satellites from Point Arguello, Calif., with little fanfare.

What information that has been released indicates the satellites have included those of the Discoverer type launched in a polar orbit.

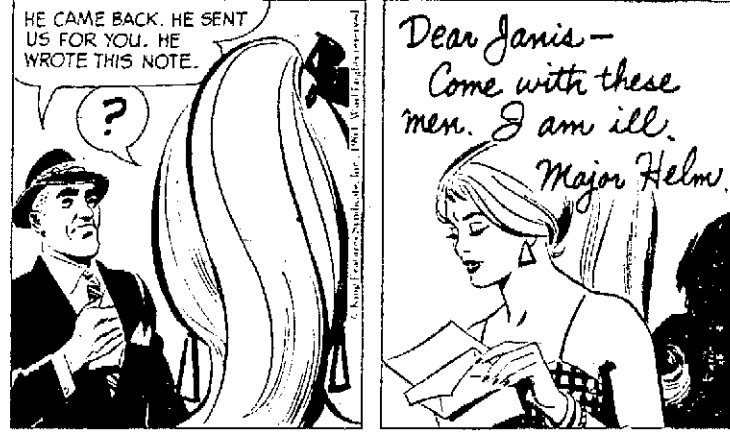

Peking Denies Indian Border Troop Buildup

TOKYO (AP) — Peking Radio says an Indian report that Red China is again massing troops on India's borders is an out-and-out lie.

The Peking broadcast Sunday says the Prime Minister Nehru of India is keeping tension high for political reasons. Nehru warned Saturday that the border situation is "full of menace."

Is it normal for a man to marry a younger version of his mother? Yes — No — Yes, it is quite normal. A boy grows up feeling loved and understood by his mother who after all is the first woman in his life. As he begins to get acquainted with girls about his own age or a little younger, he unconsciously compares them with his mother. Those who fall too far short of her image are left behind. He ultimately chooses for a wife someone who gives him the same general kind of relationship (and a lot more) that he found satisfying with his mother. A girl can be flattered and pleased when she finds her boy friend comparing her with his mother.

Rockefeller Will be Briefed on Test Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, back from California, says he is to get a briefing sometime this week on the nuclear test ban treaty initiated in Moscow.

He told newsmen upon arriving here that Secretary of State Dean Rusk has asked him to withhold comment until briefed and extract square root of re- on the treaty's contents. Rockefeller declined to say when, where (which is the hypotenuse of this rectangle).
